HUTCHISON IN WASHINGTON

Ike President Only in Name Not in Fact

(At the beginning of the space age U.S. leadership of the western nations, or lack of it, is the most important political question of the time. And Canada's relations with its great neighbor to the south have been injected more strongly than for years into the domestic scene. To size up what these mean to Canada, Times editor Bruce Hutchison has recently talked to many high-ranking sources in Washington, D.C. Today he begins a series of daily articles on what he has found.)

By BRUCE HUTCHISON, Editor of the Victoria Times

WASHINGTON, D.C. — In a Greek tragedy of classic dimensions, the leadership of President Eisenhower has collapsed at the very moment when it is needed most in his own nation and throughout the free world.

For all effective purposes the presidency of the United States is in recess and is unlikely to be effective in great affairs again until a new president is elected in 1960.

This is the price — the bitter, incalculable price — of Mr. Eisenhower's repeated illnesses. Physically he can no longer function as president, except in the most formal fashion.

Unhappily, in the American constitutional system, there is no substitute for a president, no possible means of delegating his authority to others, no way to fill the vacuum of the White House.

The immediate result of the president's condition is a Washington sunk in gloom bordering closely on despair — among Republicans as well as Democrats.

This reporter has seen Washington in the worst days of the depression, of Pearl Harbor, the Berlin blockade and the Korean war but he has never seen it in its present frame of mind. It is passing through the darkest hour since the Civil War.

Of course, much more than the illness of one man has contributed to the sudden discovery that the United States no longer bargains with Russia from strength but from weakness. A vast complex of events (to be discussed in later dispatches) has created the current crisis of the free world but all of them come to focus in the Eisenhower tragedy.

Misconception

It actually began in 1952 when the newly-elected president was at the height of his physical powers but entered office under a complete misconception of his task.

He had received from the American people a clear mandate to end the perpetual alarms, crises and worldwide adventures of the Truman government and the Acheson foreign policy. With complete honesty he undertook to return the nation to what President Harding called "normalcy."

The fatal flaw in this concept soon appeared — Russia would not tolerate normalcy, or anything like it, anywhere. Despite the American people's yearning for peace abroad and an easy

Youth Kills Nine

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—Nebraska Governor Victor Anderson mobilized the National Guard in Lincoln today after a mad killer who slays by threes gunned down his third trio of victims—bringing his total to nine.

The governor's action followed by minutes a state safety patrol order for all cars in the area to converge on Lincoln, where the killer is "loose in the city."

The governor said he was calling from 100 to 200 men—"all the experienced combat men we can get"—to active duty in the state capital city.

Police engaged in a short chase with a car owned by one of the three newest victims but lost the car and its occupant.

10th VICTIM

This spurred fears that there might be a 10th victim—the 14-year-old girl companion of the suspect, who has been identified as 19-year-old Charles Starkweather.

The new victims were identified as C. Lauer Ward, 48, president of Capital Steel Works in Lincoln; Clara Ward, 46, his wife, and Lillian Fencel, 60, their housekeeper.

The killer continued to slay by threes — three at Lincoln Monday night, followed by three at Bennet, about 20 miles south-east of Lincoln, and then three more at Lincoln today.

Discovery of the car of one of the earlier victims of the bloody sequence of killings definitely linked the killings to Starkweather.

Starkweather and his junior high school girl friend, Carol Fugate, have been charged with murder.

The abandoned car found near the Ward home was owned by Robert Jensen, 17, Bennet high school student whose body was found with that of Carol King, 16, his girl friend in an abandoned storm cellar.

The other victims were: August Meyer, 70, bachelor with whom Starkweather used to hunt squirrels; Marion Bartlett, 57, his wife Velda, 37, mother of Carol, and the Bartlett's infant daughter, Betty Jean, not quite three.

BAD WEATHER DELAYS FIRING

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UP)—Thick rain clouds and brisk winds swept over Cape Canaveral today, apparently postponing any attempts to launch a major missile. The army's Jupiter C was believed ready for launching.

'JUST LIKE HOME' SAYS QUEEN MOTHER

Protocol Nudged Into Run At Rain-Hit Royal Welcome

By ELIZABETH FORBES, Times Women's Editor
VANCOUVER—Protocol may have been followed when Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth, The Queen Mother, arrived at International Airport Tuesday evening, but if so it was certainly nudged into a run.

A driving rain that started a half hour before the royal aircraft touched down, threw proceedings into high gear and there was little time wasted on formalities.

As the BOAC Douglas airliner taxied toward the new terminal building, a red carpet that had been hidden under canvas to keep it dry, was rolled out.

Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross and Mrs. Ross and Vancouver's Mayor Fred Hume and Mrs. Hume had been waiting in the shelter of the terminal building and they stepped quickly to the edge of the carpet.

INTERNATIONAL TOUCH
The ladies were under big blue umbrellas carried by two attractive air stewardesses who added a nice international touch. One was Miss Shirley Joe, a Vancouver Chinese girl and the other, Miss Claudette Faure of Paris, France.

As the engines stopped, men in clean white overalls pushed the landing ramp into place. The door of the big plane opened and Her Majesty appeared.

In the bright glare of many floodlights, the Queen Mother was calm and poised. The smile so many remembered from the 1939 visit, flashed briefly; a graceful wave of the hand followed.

Then, Her Majesty came quickly down the landing steps. So quickly, in fact, that an equestrier holding a huge black umbrella over her head had a hard time keeping up to her.

At the foot of the steps she took the umbrella firmly in her own hand and held it down against the rain.

MAPLE LEAF

The diamond maple leaf, given to her during the 1939 visit, flashed on the lapel of her full-length smoke-toned mink coat.

Her dress was a satin sheath in rich Dior blue and her side draped hat in the same tone was trimmed with stiffened ostrich feathers in a darker blue. Diamonds were at her ears and she wore a three-strand necklace of pearls.

3 Soviet Envoys Ousted by Dutch

THE HAGUE (Reuters)—The Netherlands said today it has expelled three members of the Russian Embassy.

The foreign office did not say why, but newspapers report that the diplomatic trio entertained Dutch soldiers at parties in order to ferret out military information.

The three, who already have departed, were Col. L. I. Tchernov, military and air attaché; Lt.-Cmdr. V. S. Zenin, naval attaché; and G. N. Soechatsjov, an interpreter.

The newspaper De Telegraaf says the Dutch government, which "had had the Russians shadowed for months," discovered that they had "regularly invited" lower-ranking officers of the Dutch armed forces to parties and meetings "to collect data about the Dutch forces."

The Russians concentrated their attention on the Dutch naval base of Den Helder, De Telegraaf says, adding that Russian espionage activities "assumed such proportions that at one time the Dutch government considered ejecting the whole of the military staff of the Russian Embassy from the country."

Byrne Asks New Move On Tariffs

OTTAWA (CP)—James Byrne, Liberal Commons member for the mining constituency of Kootenay East, B.C., today asked the government to renew representations to the U.S. against the boosting of tariffs on non-ferrous metals from Canada.

In the Commons, he requested specifically that the government draw to the attention of the U.S. administration a statement by the executive board of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.) that such action would be contrary to the interests of the union's members.

Mr. Byrne is a former officer of the union.

Finance Minister Fleming replied that the government already has made "strong and urgent" representations — as he had previously announced — but that the U.S. had not yet indicated any final policy for 1958.

Deeply Moved, She Says

From Times News Services

VANCOUVER — Elizabeth, The Queen Mother, planned a motor tour of Vancouver this afternoon, rain or shine.

Officials had been ready to cancel the proposed tour if the rain which greeted the Royal visitor on her arrival Tuesday night persisted. But Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross said later the Queen had been impressed with the turnout of thousands in the rain, especially the children, and expressed a wish to make the tour whether it rained or not.

She will travel in the lieutenant-governor's limousine, flanked by other cars and police motorcycle escort over the route of some 20 miles.

But the weather man said the weather probably would cooperate. Cocking an eye at the overcast hanging over the city, he said that while it probably wouldn't shine, it probably wouldn't rain either.

LARGE TURNOUT

There might be some showers in the late evening, about the time the Queen Mother is due to take off on the continuation of her trip to the Antipodes.

Lieutenant-Governor Ross quoted the Queen Mother as saying: "I was deeply touched by the reception I received at the airport and driving through the streets. I was particularly touched by the large turnout of children."

The Queen Mother will see many more children today. Some 3,000 students, whose schools lie along her proposed route, will be released from classes for a chance to get a glimpse of the royal visitor.

A journey into memory marks the only official function on the Queen Mother's program today as she enjoys a day's rest on her unprecedented trip around the world by air.

The one official touch will come in mid-afternoon when she will drive to city hall to meet members of Vancouver city council and sign the visitors' book.

REST AND RELAXATION

There, she will see where she signed on her last visit to the city, in 1939, and alongside it the signature of her husband, the late King George VI.

This morning was set aside for rest and relaxation at the Vancouver residence of Lieutenant-Governor Ross and Mrs. Ross, where she spent Tuesday night as a guest.

After the city hall visit and tour the royal traveller will return to the Ross' home. An official motor cavalcade, with motorcycle escort, later will take her to the airport, where she will board her specially-outfitted airliner for an 8 p.m. takeoff, and the Honolulu leg of her journey.

U.S. Boosts Mideast Aid; Dulles, Iraq Chief Clash

From UP and Reuters Dispatches

ANKARA, Turkey (UP)—The U.S. today pledged $10,000,000 in additional aid to the Middle East members of the Baghdad Pact for a communications network linking their capitals.

Secretary of State John Dulles pledged the additional economic aid at a meeting of the ministerial council. He also said that further aid requests will get a sympathetic hearing in Washington.

The new aid allocation will be added to $8,600,000 already pledged for a survey of civil telephone and telegraph lines.

The pledge was seen as the U.S. reply to a resurgent Soviet economic offensive in the Middle East and particularly to Moscow assertions that the U.S. is interested only in military spending.

Earlier today, a heated rift between the U.S. and the Moslem members emerged over the pact's relation to the Arab-Israeli conflict.

State Secretary Dulles went into a private conference with the delegates of Iraq and Turkey in an effort to patch up the differences, which first broke out in a heated exchange at Tuesday's closed session.

Conference sources said the exchange came at a meeting between Dulles and Gen. Nuri al-Said, head of the Iraqi delegation.

Nuri was reported to have met Dulles, in the presence of Turkey's Prime Minister Adnan Menderes, to press his case for forcing Israel back into the frontiers laid down by the 1947 United Nations resolution on Palestine.

But he was understood to have received a sharp rebuff from Dulles, who took the line that the Palestine problem should be settled not in the framework of the Baghdad Pact but under the auspices of the UN.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

God of our fathers, Thou hast called us to walk in Thy sight, to do Thy will, and to be Thy children by adoption through Christ Jesus. Help us to walk faithfully in the paths of righteousness. Forgive us when we fail Thee as Thy children and renew the bonds that bind us to Thee. In the name of Thy Son we pray. Amen.

Nat'rally th' Queen Mother'll want 't see th' people o' Vancouver under nat'l conditions—so she'll see 'em with rain pourin' on 'em.

Can't figger whether thet trouble at th' jail wuz folks tryin' 't break out, or in.

NORMAN CRIBBENS

LEGISLATURE

The spirit of the late Ernest Winch—friend of the poor and the weak—seemed to linger over the House Tuesday afternoon when his son-in-law and successor in the Legislature, Cedric Cox, made his maiden speech as CCF member for Burnaby.

Mr. Cox, a studious looking man in a dark blue suit, was clearly pre-occupied with humanity. He called for an end to the means test for pensions for blind persons. He asked for a Canadian Merchant Marine to aid Canada's unemployed, and he called on the B.C. government to set an example to the United States by recognizing Communist China.

Then, in a ringing tribute to his father-in-law, he said: "He accomplished more for the underprivileged than any member of this House, past or present. He was a leader in the field of low-cost housing, and it is significant that the United States Senate, not knowing he was dead, recently asked him to give an address in New York on housing for senior citizens."

"No greater tribute could have been offered to my predecessor—the late member for Burnaby."

The new member seemed particularly anxious that Premier Bennett and his government should dare the "displeasure" of the United States by recognizing Communist China.

He felt that if B.C. took the lead other provinces of Canada would join her in taking "the more enlightened view."

Attorney General Robert Bonner, in his first speech of the session, also referred to the United States.

"After listening to the honorable member for the Opposition (CCF leader Robert Strachan) I realize that the U.S. Republicans are not the only party which cannot get their rockets off the ground," he said.

Mrs. Buda Brown, with her crinkly golden hair and blue-tinted spectacles, has an obvious flair for reporting on provincial institutions.

Entering her second session as the Social Credit member for Vancouver-Point Grey, Mrs. Brown became so enthused over British Columbia's correctional homes that she spoke feelingly of "a beautiful jail with lovely kitchens and a nice color scheme."

Those of us who had not openly broken the law wondered why we should be shut out of such places as Mrs. Brown described. Could it be that you have to rob a bank to achieve the Shangri-la of your hopes and dreams?

Possibly the lady member supplied the answer when she recommended stricter discipline for delinquents and fewer excuses for those who take the easy way out in avoiding unpalatable restrictions on their social behavior.

Both Mrs. Brown and her opposite number in the House, Mrs. Lois Haggren (CCF-Grand Forks-Greenwood) seem to favor dark blue dress. Not so surprising when you remember that the centennial carpet in the B.C. Legislature is a bright red!

And as might be expected, both ladies have left their red dresses at home.

The Daddy of the House, 83-year-old Tom Uphill, listened to most of Tuesday's speeches with eyes closed in what Charles Dickens would have called "an excess of pleasure."

Hands calmly folded on lap, Tom wore the benign expression of one who has heard it all before but thinks it is worth hearing again if only for the goodwill behind it.

HUTCHISON

Leadership is fractured and farmed out no one knows just where or how.

In domestic politics the most powerful American of the day is Senator Lyndon Johnson, Democratic leader of the senate and possibly the next president. As the real and accepted manager of the legislature he is trying to fill a gap which can be filled only by the executive.

In foreign policy Mr. Dulles is now supreme and will remain so to the end of Mr. Eisenhower's term. He makes that policy alone, carries it under his hat and forbids any of his advisers to discuss it with the President. No former secretary of state has ever possessed comparable power.

By a unique combination of religious idealism and a hunger for personal power, Mr. Dulles is determined to save the world single-handed by his own methods. So far as the President is concerned Mr. Dulles has a blank cheque.

But it is quite unfair, misleading and dangerous to personalize the crisis in this single whipping boy. Events much larger than he or Mr. Eisenhower, or any American statesman, are now in flow and they cut surgically across the calculations of all the free nations, including Canada. Another dispatch will try to explain them.

Dulles Holds Rains

As one of Washington's most distinguished observers put it to this reporter: "We can't make the American constitution work without its core, the presidency. Today there is no presidency except in form, no effective agency of leadership."

Under these circumstances

CANADA SPENDS $3.3 MILLION
FOR MAINTAINING REFUGEES

OTTAWA (CP)—A total of $3,350,105 had been spent up to last Nov. 30 on maintenance for Hungarian refugees in Canada, a government return tabled Tuesday in the Commons showed.

The return, in reply to queries from G. H. Castleden (CCF-Yorkton), said $1,352,971 was spent for transportation of the refugees in Canada and $494,371 for their medical care.

It said return passages had been paid for 170 Hungarians up to last Oct. 1. The return did not give the cost of these.

Rea Purchases
Another 21%
CHEK Shares

Once chief competitor for Victoria's television channel 6, William Rea, Santa Barbara, Calif., has purchased another 21 per cent of the shares of CHEK-TV. It was announced today by David M. Armstrong, CHEK-TV president.

Last year Mr. Rea, former owner-manager of radio station CKNW, New Westminster, bought out Charles White, one of the three original share-owners of CHEK-TV. Now he has purchased the shares owned by Dr. M. M. Mathisen, New Westminster.

The transfer of shares by Dr. Mathisen is subject to the approval of the Department of Transport and the Board of Governors of the CBC.

If approved, Mr. Rea will own 42 per cent of the shares and Mr. Armstrong 58 per cent.

Tories Succeed
Three Liberal
Lt.-Governors

OTTAWA (CP)—Three Progressive Conservatives have been named to succeed Liberal lieutenant-governors in Saskatchewan, Prince Edward Island and Quebec.

Frank L. Bastedo, 71-year-old Regina lawyer, was appointed Tuesday by Prime Minister Diefenbaker to succeed Lt. Gov. William John Patterson in Saskatchewan Monday.

F. Walter Hyndman, 53, a Charlottetown insurance executive, will become P.E.I.'s lieutenant-governor March 31, on the retirement of Lt. Gov. William Proves, 69.

Appointment of former provincial finance minister Onesime as lieutenant-governor of Quebec was announced today by Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

Appointment of Mr. Gagnon, who resigned his cabinet post Friday, is effective Feb. 14. He succeeds Gaspard Fautoux, lieutenant-governor of Quebec since Oct. 1, 1950.

4 Crushed to Death

ROUNDUP, Mont. (AP)—A mine cave-in crushed four men to death beneath an estimated 15 tons of rock late Tuesday. Six others escaped injury.

Better Credit System
Promised to Farmers

MONTREAL (CP)—Agriculture Minister Douglas Harkness indicated today that the Progressive Conservative government soon may take definite steps to provide Canadian farmers with an improved credit system.

"I believe that we require an improved credit system for Canadian farmers which will make money available to them to modernize and improve their farms so that they can carry one more efficiently in many cases than has been possible in the past," he said.

Speaking to the annual meeting of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, he said better farm credit is one of a number of problems he has been studying.

Other possible measures which Mr. Harkness mentioned were a system of crop insurance and a national program of soil and water conservation which would include construction of the South Saskatchewan River power-irrigation project.

blue nylons and dainty high spike-heeled shoes that added a touch of extreme fashion to the ensemble.

As the Queen Mother set foot on the red carpet the lieutenant-governor came forward and shook hands. Mrs. Ross followed with a graceful curtsy.

As Mayor and Mrs. Hume were being received, Mrs. Ross stepped back and into a limousine that took her, under police escort, by the most direct route to the Ross home in Point Grey, so she could be there when Her Majesty arrived.

"My, what rain," the Queen Mother said as she looked up from the shelter of her umbrella.

A gust of wind blew Mrs. Hume's hat off as she made her curtsy.

A member of the Queen Mother's entourage indicated Her Majesty probably wasn't disappointed in the weather.

CHATS WITH MAYOR

The Queen Mother talked longest with Mayor Hume, whom she met on a cross-Canada tour with the late King George VI in 1939. At that time Mr. Hume was mayor of nearby New Westminster.

"She is a beautiful and lovely person," the mayor said later. "She told me she was feeling a little tired from her long air voyage but she said: 'I am so very glad to be here.'"

The Queen Mother entered a brightly lighted car. Lieutenant-Governor Ross, the Humes and the Queen's entourage of 19 persons followed. A cavalcade was formed and moved slowly away as 2,000 or more people who had come out to see royalty shouted their approval.

JUST RAIN

It was all over in 10 minutes. The lights flashed off in the plane. Only thing left was the driving rain.

A last flurry of excitement came as senior pilot of the royal aircraft, Capt. Bernard Frost, came in to the room set up for the press at the airport.

This blue-eyed, pink-cheeked Englishman, with more than 15,000 flying hours to his credit, was proud of the fact that almost three hours had been clipped from the estimated flight across Canada. (First scheduled arrival had been estimated at 11:30 p.m.)

He had flown nearly all the way at 20,000 feet and in thick cloud.

"We did see Winnipeg," he explained, "and we had a few glimpses of the Rockies. A few minutes ago we sighted the lights of Penticton (Penticton, he called it)."

"The moon put on a bit of a show for us," he added. "That's all."

Better Credit System
Promised to Farmers

Mr. Harkness dealt at length with the government's new farm price supports bill, now before the Senate following Commons passage last week.

The Canadian Federation of Agriculture, as well as the CCF and Social Credit groups in the Commons, have criticized the absence from the measure of any specific parity price formula to tie supports to farm production costs and prices of other commodities.

Home Rule
Hits Snag

PARIS (AP)—A new French election law for rebellious Algeria won final legislative approval Tuesday from the National Assembly, 292 to 249, but a bill to provide limited home rule was held up by a dispute with the Upper House.

Although designed to relax French rule in Algeria, they preserve control from Paris of the North African area's defence, foreign affairs and finances.

Both plans have already been rejected by Algerian rebels, who have been fighting for independence for more than three years. The French have said they cannot hold elections until peace is restored to Algeria.

The election law equalizes the votes of French and Arab residents of Algeria. In the past, although the Arabs outnumber the French 10 to one, the voting system was rigged to give the French control.

To keep Algeria's French settlers from being swamped by the Arabs, the home rule bill would divide the territory into six or seven regional administrations, with the boundaries drawn along racial lines. It also promises a federal regime for the future.

Teachers Meet
Today on Wages

A full membership meeting of Greater Victoria Teachers' Association was set for 4 p.m. today in effort to break a deadlock in salary talks.

The teachers were expected to vote on whether to ask arbitration proceedings in salary negotiations with Greater Victoria School Board.

6 PER CENT REJECTED

Only 14 out of 434 who attended the meeting voted to accept the proposal. Earlier the GVTA scaled down its 18 per cent requests to 13 per cent, but the board held firm.

If arbitration is decided upon, both sides in the dispute must act quickly. Under the governing provincial act, the school board 1958 budget must be completed and presented to area councils for approval by Feb. 14.

IN PARLIAMENT

Finance Minister Under Heated Attack

(From Times News Services)

OTTAWA—Finance Minister Donald Fleming, in offering an explanation for revising tax-sharing figures, has been charged by the Liberals with playing around with the truth.

"What rubbish!" former immigration minister J. W. Pickersgill exclaimed Tuesday night. "There is not a word of truth in it—not a little of truth."

James Sinclair (L. Coast-Caplan) said Mr. Fleming's explanation of an "extraordinary miscalculation" was the "weakest" he had ever heard in the House.

The Liberals' jabbing and thrusting at the Progressive Conservatives' financial chief continued as the House spent a second day of debate on the government proposal to boost the provincial share of the personal income tax field to 13 per cent from 10 and to provide extra payments to the Atlantic provinces.

The bill was finally given first reading. Second reading, approval in principle, is to be sought today.

Debate swirled around two main issues: the fact that Mr. Fleming had given the House

'Legislation by Telegram' Charged

"It's the first time in the history of this country that we have had legislation by telegram," remarked A. Wesley Stuart (L. Charlotte).

Mr. Fleming was pressed to explain why he had revised the figures on what the provinces would receive. Under the revisions, payments for eight provinces would go up from original estimates; those for British Columbia and Prince Edward Island would go down.

The minister replied that his first estimate had not taken the stabilization factor into consideration. This factor is to make sure that no province gets less under the current five-year tax-sharing arrangements than they would have received if 1952-53 pacts were continued.

Another reason, he added, is that his original estimate was a projection based on 1956-57 tax yields while his revision was based on 1957-58 yields.

Mr. Pickersgill said the explanation represented a "sorry picture of the financial management of this country."

Jean Lesage (L. Montmagny) said it was not so much Mr. Fleming but Prime Minister Diefenbaker who was at fault.

Mr. Diefenbaker had "scuttled" the federal-provincial fiscal conference of last November and now was planning to "scuttle" Parliament.

Mr. Knowles called on the government never again to deal with any federal-provincial relationship other than on a basis of "conference, consultation and full understanding" among the central and provincial administrations.

The government's controversial farm price stabilization bill was attacked Tuesday night in the Senate by a former Liberal cabinet minister as legislation based on the "Marxism philosophy."

Senator Thomas A. Crerar (L. Manitoba) a farmer in his youth, spoke shortly before senators gave second-reading approval in principle—to the legislation and referred it to committee for detailed study.

Senator Crerar, a former mines and resources minister, said the legislation will result in piling up of huge farm surpluses. Canada could not afford to land in a position similar to that of the United States, which has $8,000,000,000 invested in surplus agricultural products.

"The principle upon which this legislation is based, if it can be called a principle, is found in the Marxism philosophy," Senator Crerar said.

"One of the things that Marx taught was that the price system was one of the evils of capitalism and had to be destroyed."

"Are we taking this long step forward in a socialistic experiment?"

State Sport Pools Backed by Tory MP

OTTAWA (CP)—Progressive Conservative member of Parliament Frank McGee said Tuesday that Canada should have government-controlled sport pools.

Mr. McGee, who has had "quite an amount of correspondence and phone calls" complaining about pools being illegal in Canada, said he will approach the justice department to see if the law can be changed.

"Members of all parties in the House privately would be willing to go along with this," said the member for Toronto York-Scarborough.

"The pools could be run on a seasonal basis," the 31-year-old member theorized during an interview in his Commons office.

"There could be hockey pools in winter and football pools in fall."

"Gambling on a large scale has been justifiably condemned because it has worked a hardship on the wage earners," said Mr. McGee, descendant of Thomas D'Arcy McGee, a Father of Confederation.

But "a great many people like to participate in inexpensive office pools, football pools and church raffles."

Mr. McGee said even churches are raising money for construction and other purposes "from raffles of one kind or another."

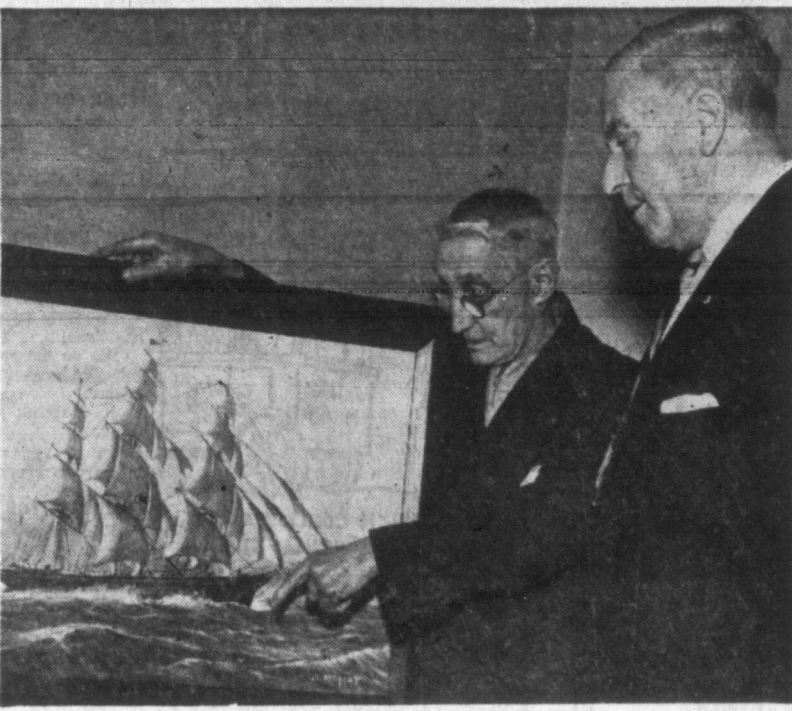

There was "a general acceptance by the public" of this kind of pool.

Mr. McGee said Canadians

VICTORIA OPINION POLL

Climate, Beauty, Easy Pace Biggest Attractions Here

SURGEONS IN DRAMATIC FEAT

Heart Stopped 40 Minutes

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—Six-year-old Anthony Romeo of New Bellmore, Long Island, was reported in excellent condition today after a dramatic, seven-hour operation in which his heart was stopped for 40 minutes by surgeons.

The boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Romeo, underwent surgery at Temple University Hospital Monday night to close an opening in the wall between the ventricles of his heart by sewing the hole.

The nine-member hospital team stopped the boy's heart by injecting potassium citrate into the coronary arteries.

Because surgery is dangerous and difficult in the areas of the ventricles, the lower chambers of the heart, the stopping of the organ was necessary.

Hail and Farewell

BRITISH COLUMBIANS WELCOME the visit—necessarily curtailed though it may be—of the Queen Mother to this province and hope that she may soon return for a more extended stay.

All who remember the Royal visit of 1939 will cherish a recollection of the smiling, gracious woman who won all hearts in this city, as across Canada. Although there will be no opportunity on this occasion for the people of the capital city to pay their respects, the Queen Mother may know that provincial representatives speak with our voice, in welcoming her to British Columbia and tonight in bidding her God-speed on the long and interesting journey that lies before her.

This is one more task for the Queen Mother in a lifetime of royal tasks—another evidence of her dedication to the Commonwealth and her concern for its unity and strength. As an ambassador of goodwill in turbulent times, none better could be chosen.

Mr. Bonner in the Dock

MR. ROBERT STRACHAN HAS leveled direct charges at the attorney-general for his handling of the Sommers case.

The leader of the opposition says Mr. Bonner "stands convicted as a man who put his political duty before his public duty."

If Mr. Strachan's charge sticks, then the attorney-general is branded as a person who has not attended properly to the public business for which he assumed responsibility.

The alternative to the Strachan indictment is that the chief law officer of the Crown failed through ineptitude to clear up an unsavory condition—that, in effect, he handled the matter incompetently. If such is the case, again he has failed to attend properly to his public duties.

The facts of Mr. Bonner's handling of the issue are public property.

The attorney-general had presented to him a body of evidence concerning the award of certain forest management licences. He was asked to investigate that body of evidence thoroughly.

Mr. Bonner dismissed the submission, contending it was a mere political manoeuvre.

Under newspaper and public pressure, the attorney-general eventually called for a police investigation of the material. The investigation led to a criminal charge against the minister named in the "body of evidence" 707 days after the "body of evidence" was first submitted. That case is now proceeding in the courts and is, in consequence, removed from comment.

But Mr. Strachan is on thoroughly sound ground in insisting "on the right to comment on the part played by the attorney-general in this whole sorry affair."

The position taken by the leader of the opposition is strengthened by events of preceding sessions. He, his party colleagues and Liberal members, brought for a judicial inquiry into the questions raised by the "body of evidence."

Such a course of action could have settled the whole issue in short order. The minister whose reputation was at stake would have had an opportunity to clear his name, or action could have been taken on the information presented to the attorney-general.

By technicalities and legalisms, the case was delayed and Mr. Bonner escaped for the time being the responsibilities which were his. He must accept the consequences of his actions.

Nor is he alone in the position he occupies today. He is joined by members of his government who whipped a supine following into line to defeat efforts to bring the issue to a quick conclusion.

Mr. Strachan has delivered his indictment in the House. It will doubtless be followed by others as the session progresses. The public is being served by those who press the issue.

Corroboration on Hoxsey

THE SPECIAL UNIVERSITY OF British Columbia investigating committee has confirmed earlier authoritative reports on the Hoxsey clinics.

"The medications known as the 'Hoxsey treatment for cancer' are of no value in the treatment of internal cancer and the external treatments used have no place in modern cancer therapy," the committee says.

This is substantiation of the information given out by doctors and medical experts after Mrs. Lydia Arsens made her claims for the Hoxsey treatment in the Legislature some time ago.

Mrs. Arsens flies in the face of the report with the statement she will continue her "fight for a clinic in B.C." and does her best to cast suspicion on the Committee findings.

She is, of course, entitled to her opinion, however dangerous it may be. But on an issue that can be so disastrous to the individual, she must ask herself if she is justified in raising hopes of serious cancer sufferers.

What Makes Them Bright?

DR. HARRY HICKMAN, Principal of Victoria College, has tried to put into proper perspective the recurring argument over the adequacy of training received by students before they reach university.

Dean W. A. Riddell, of Regina, has revived the issue by attributing a high university failure rate among new students to a "lack of proper attitude and training before college."

This is a point of view which seems to parallel Dr. Hilda Neatby's contentions in "So Little for the Mind" and a judgment of the younger generation by its elders which runs back to the times of ancient Greece.

There is unquestionably something in the point made by Dean Riddell, Dr. Neatby and scholars and elders extending to antiquity.

But the qualification raised by Dr. Hickman seems worthy of attention.

"If they fail because they lack the proper attitude, I certainly would not blame the school system as much as I would blame the home, and the present day pattern of society," Dr. Hickman says. He offers this point of view after seeing justification for certain of Dean Riddell's criticism and countering some of his generalities by testifying that most students are well trained, alert and industrious.

No one suggests that the school system here or anywhere else is perfect. It is doubtful if school systems have ever been.

But it is a fact that a number of students coming up through our schools and proceeding through university show remarkable abilities and establish records of very considerable accomplishment. True a very large number show scant ability and few scholarly achievements.

And these students, the bright ones and the dull, come up through the same schools, are subjected to the same instruction and inspiration within the school.

Some authorities even argue that the bright student today is actually brighter than his counterpart under other school systems of an earlier time.

Obviously there must be many more who are not so bright simply because present day society is shoving into university a larger percentage of people in a particular age class. The students are not being chosen with the selectivity—or the type of selectivity—once applied.

If Dr. Hickman's qualification is dismissed and Dean Riddell's accepted, how is it that bright students are still emerging? Are they developing in spite of the "lack of proper attitude and training before college"?

Home Away From Home

THE PRIME MINISTER'S SUGGESTION THAT ANY SUMMIT MEETING BE HELD IN CANADA HAS ITS POSSIBILITIES—

FIN DE SIECLE

By B. A. TOBIN

Beautiful but Dumb

IT'S always been a matter of argument as to which came first—the hen or the egg. There is a similar division of opinion on a more cultural topic—the matter of good taste. Is a badly designed product—some completely outlandish and garish contribution—the result of poor taste among the public, or is it the cause of such a condition? The answer, I suppose, must be the same compromise that you eventually reach with the hen and the egg. One produces the other and it doesn't matter which you start with.

Tobin

A professor in Washington has come out with an anguished comment on the standards of the year 1957. He laments most of them under the heading of "tail-fin culture" by which he appears to mean extravagance, ostentation, ugliness, pseudo-science, technological profligacy—all designed to create an environment of what Thorstein Veblen called conspicuous waste, and to prove that you are not only up with, but miles ahead of, the Joneses.

To achieve all these effects you add huge vertical tail pieces to your automobile, the bigger the better. These sweep out and up from the rear mudguards, with the implication that they are needed to steady the flight of the car at the several-hundred-mile-an-hour pace it usually maintains.

It is not that these enameled and chromic flutings are so ugly in themselves. The complaint is that they are phony—as phony as the built-up shoulders the reedy little fellow wears, as phony as the huge multi-flue chimneys sported by some of our ranch-house style homes, which when examined are found to consist of wood and plaster topped off by chimney pots.

Over-Loaded

On one of Sir Malcolm Campbell's speeders such fins are necessary. They have utility and a beauty of their own. On a family car, no matter what it may cost, they are junk.

The surprising thing is that so many people will pay extra for such protuberances. Some of the cheaper cars build fins into the body to try to ape the more expensive ones. And the expensive ones grow larger and larger fins to show that they are more expensive.

Whose fault is it—the buyers' or the sellers'? Perhaps the growing sales of smaller overseas cars—without fins—provide the answer that it isn't entirely the buyers' fault. It may be argued that if you want to possess the many real advantages of one of the American-style cars you have to take the fins along with the transmission, the brakes and the powerful engine. That is true to a certain extent. But it is still possible to obtain many of the mechanical advantages without the mess of metal that is tagged on to them.

A more important question is: are we wearing tailfins on our thinking today? Are we dragging around large colored flanges behind our ideas to make them seem bigger and more important?

There is still lots of hope for a fellow who travels in front of and between tailfins. He may hate the sight of them. He may be enduring them as he endures a world huddling beneath the atom bomb—merely because he can't get anything better at the moment.

But if he depends on tailfins to make his ideas attractive it's another matter entirely.

Take a good, solid 100-horsepower idea, designed to carry its load at a reasonable speed and meet the competition of other thoughts in its weight class.

Faithful Servant

You could depend on such an idea; it would serve you well for a lifetime, perhaps, with only a little fixing up now and then, an occasional cleaning and polishing, and at longer intervals a general review and tightening-up all round. Used for 100-horsepower work it should prove perfectly satisfactory.

But put some flashy trimmings on it, add mental tailfins, doll it up to look like a 200-horsepower idea, and you'll be in for trouble. People who accept it at its 200-HP face value will quickly find out it's a phony—and the owner will be blamed.

They'll soon learn that when you wheel the idea out for a trial spin it can't keep up the pace with real 200-HP ideas. It can't pull its weight, it's out of its class. And that, of course, puts the owner out of HIS class.

Perhaps a lot of our ideas are decorated that way these days. The young fellow who leaves school convinced that he's a whiz at everything because he's never had a real testing is trailing tailfins of glory that will soon become dented and broken.

The politician who jumps from the local political dirt track to the larger federal testing ground with an exaggerated idea of his importance is wearing tailfins that will have to be whittled down before he can be of any real use. The man in any field who thinks he's indispensable and makes sure that everyone around him knows it—he's towing tailfins so large that they're holding him back.

There are many styles and models to choose from. But no matter which you select you can't get away from a comparison deriving from an earlier day—the day of the horse-drawn wagon.

Mental tailfins are just horse blinders worn at the other end. And they have the same effect.

In regards to an article written by Mr. D. Peace who recently became a victim of a "food plan."

I have many friends who are glad to belong to this plan. I am one. I made it my business to find out where he purchased his freezer and food, and I find we both have the same place in common.

Well Mr. Peace, I have never had a single complaint to make of any of my orders. Certainly we have never eaten better meat at such a big saving, and I fail to see where you could possibly have so many complaints.

Other Tooth Elements

I read with interest Dr. Mahaffy's letter entitled "Of Interest to Everyone." I was disappointed to note that no reference or comparison was made of caries in children's teeth who had adequate or proper amounts of calcium.

phosphorous, and vitamins—with no fluorine added to the water supply—and those who had insufficient of these minerals and vitamins.

Also the doctor did not mention if the lack of fluorine in the water supply was or was not the root cause of inferior teeth or tooth decay, nor mention what the major contributing factors are.

Can I detect by these omissions that a slight bias or prejudice exists; or is the above information not available? The doctor mentioned iodine. I would point out in this case that the individual is not compelled to use it, that it is available to those that desire it by purchasing iodized salt. Why not apply this principle in dispensing fluorine? The right of the individual to personal choice should be jealously guarded. Once lost, it is hard to regain.

Persuasion is a better method and more effective than compulsion. Bring out all factors and aspects so the individual may be better informed to follow the dictates of personal choice.

Unions and Union Steamships

In a recent editorial you very properly deplored the discontinuation of the services that have been provided for half a century by the Union Steamship Company, to the residents of the coast of British Columbia, north of Vancouver. You, however, implied a criticism of the Federal Government in failing to maintain the services by a largely increased subsidy at the cost of the Canadian taxpayer.

As bad as the situation undoubtedly is, you did not refer to the real reason, why the Union Steamship Company is unable to continue what was once a profitable business.

In the last decade costs of operation have become prohibitive and of course, the main element of the cost involved has been the increased wages that have been demanded by the union to which the crews pay tribute.

You did not refer to the number of shifts that are now required, nor to the number of days-off that have to be paid for by the company.

Canada has lost its merchant marine because it cannot compete with foreign vessels in world trade.

Take a look any day at Ogden Point Docks and note the registries of the vessels there. Besides British ships, there are Dutch, French, Italian, Greek, Japanese and other foreign owned or registered ships.

Foreign-owned shipping does not compete in coast-wise trade, but Canadian ship owners cannot maintain adequate service by reason of high costs of operation and consequently competent Canadian seamen are unemployed.

FROM BONN, GERMANY By JOSEPH ALSOP

Troubles on the Land

NIKITA KHRUSHCHEV'S brisk announcement of the suppression of the "machine tractor stations" that control the whole vast Russian countryside is even more exciting news than the dramatic fall of Marshal Zhukov. Machine tractor stations may not sound like institutions highly charged with human emotions. Many months have also passed to cool this correspondent's recollections of the Soviet Union. But the news is still so stirring that a comment is irresistible.

Alsop

It is stirring because the machine tractor stations were the rural command posts of the omnipotent Soviet party government. It is stirring because the abolition of the machine tractor stations and the sale of their machinery to the collective farms will at last unavoidably give Soviet peasant life a wholly new kind of internal autonomy and local freedom.

Transformation

Of course, there may be the biggest kind of hooker in this news. It may conceal a decision to adopt the much-discussed policy of transforming the collective farms themselves into "state farms."

The collectives, as their name implies, are at least collectively owned and collectively managed by their members, of course with much state-guidance. But the state farms are like huge Roman slave estates, state owned, state managed and worked by laborers having no personal stake in the land.

Khrushchev has lately been expanding the state farms at the expense of the collectives. Yet both the terms and circumstances of his announcement appear to indicate a bold change of course. He specifically mentioned the collective farms as the prospective beneficiaries of the disappearance of the machine tractor stations.

At the same time, Pravda published a grim warning to party "conservatives" who were erroneously clinging to "antiquated institutions"—just the sort of people, in short, who would prefer state farm expansion or any other expedient whatever to the desperate expedient of giving more freedom to the wretched peasantry.

Merry-Go-Round

If these indications do not deceive, Soviet agriculture has started on another extraordinary whirl on fate's strange merry-go-round. The oddest of fate is indeed illustrated by the history of the very institutions now being abolished.

The machine tractor stations were economic necessities in the early, terrible period of Soviet agricultural collectivization and mechanization. At that time machines and machinists were desperately short. So the tractor stations were set up as pools of mechanical equipment and mechanically competent personnel, each station serving several surrounding collective farms.

Long since, the machine tractor stations lost this purely economic function, because of the Soviet success in producing farm machinery and training many hundreds of thousands of young people to use farm machinery.

Long since, Soviet agriculture entered a stage of contradictions described in the same way to this reporter by all the very able foreign agricultural experts in Moscow last winter.

On the one hand, these experts agreed that abolition of the machine tractor stations and transfer of the machines to the collectives would be the quickest, cheapest, surest way to obtain a large, immediate increase of Soviet farm production.

Plenty of machines and plenty of men to run and care for them were now available. If the collectives were allowed to own and run their own machines, the results would surely be greater pride of work, greater incentives to get the best from the land, and consequently much greater farming efficiency.

On the other hand, the foreign experts also agreed that abolition of the machine tractor stations, while economically so desirable, was politically absolutely impossible.

The tractor stations were the government's eyes in the countryside. They were the government's hand holding the collectives in a tight grip, through their control of the machines the collectives needed to till their fields. Abolish these command posts, said the experts, and the Kremlin would suddenly be confronted with collective farms almost like true agricultural co-operatives of the Western type.

Judging by the fragmentary evidence that is as yet available, Nikita Khrushchev has now accepted the economic reasoning of the foreign experts, while defying their political reasoning.

Reasons for this bold gamble are not far to seek. Continuing the policy of extending the state farms demanded great additional outlays of capital.

Partial Failure

Then too, the weather in the virgin lands last summer failed to follow the party line (borrowing the wonderful phrase of a party official interviewed in the virgin lands by this reporter). There were drought conditions and dust bowl conditions in large areas of Kazakhstan. Seemingly, this partial failure of Khrushchev's first great agricultural gamble in turn demanded a further, even bigger gamble.

Maybe, as stated above, the gamble conceals a hooker that will make the Soviet peasants' lot even worse than before. One must wait and see.

But if there is no hooker, then this is the biggest demonstration to date of the degree to which the supposedly all-powerful masters of the Kremlin are mere servants of the great industrial-economic revolution which they have achieved in the Soviet Union.

LET THEM LIVE

From an evolutionary point of view I find it difficult to believe that a post-reproductive life in women would have evolved if it were not for the fact, perhaps, that old women were wiser and more experienced and therefore rather helpful to man, not a hindrance.

—Dr. J. Maynard Smith.

'Quiet Diplomacy'

NEW YORK—There was quite good news for the world coming from the secretary-general of the United Nations. Mr. Hammarskjöld said that there is "no doubt" that the stalled disarmament talks will be resumed and he expressed confidence that talks will take place within the UN "framework."

"The United Nations is still the forum for disarmament discussions," he said and he added that, as far as he knows, no nation has taken the stand that it should cease to be.

The statement was made at Mr. Hammarskjöld's second press conference of the year. The main theme of the conference was disarmament with emphasis on the "quiet diplomacy" of the secretary-general.

Mr. Hammarskjöld said that talks could be resumed through the UN Disarmament Commission, which he said is still very much alive in spite of the Russian statement that they will boycott it. Alternatively, talks could be carried on through the Security Council of the General Assembly, and there is also the role which the secretary-general can, and is, playing.

It's reported that Mr. Hammarskjöld is sounding our reaction to a suggestion that there be a special disarmament session of the Security Council to be attended by foreign ministers. This would put Canada, as a member of the Security Council, once more into the complex all-important disarmament talks.

RUSS OUTWEIGHED

The Russians may not be favorably disposed. They object to the UN Disarmament Commission because they are outnumbered on it and they will presumably object even more strenuously to Security Council consideration because there they are completely outweighed.

On the other hand the Russians will have a hard time boycotting a Security Council discussion. The only other time they have boycotted the council was before Korea and they regretted their action. As you will recall, in their absence the UN Korean Force was organized and much authority shifted to the General Assembly, out of range of the Soviet veto.

But the important thing is that cautious Mr. Hammarskjöld appears to be moderately optimistic. He said that he had been concerned about delays but he used the past tense which seemed to indicate less concern now.

This initiative by the secretary-general is a side of UN activity about which the public seldom hears. We hear the insults and counter insults, we know all about diplomacy by mail—and blackmail, but little about the quiet talks going on over luncheon tables, over rounds of drinks, day after day.

VISIT TO MOSCOW

Agreement announced over the disputed Mount Scopus area in the Israel-Jordan border is an example of tangible results from the secretary-general's "quiet diplomacy." In December he flew out to the Middle East, apparently deeply concerned that it might erupt. Then followed three weeks of negotiations, led by his representative, and finally agreement.

Recently Mr. Hammarskjöld made a flying trip to London, and a trip to Asia is planned in the spring. In his press conference, the secretary-general was asked if he might also visit Moscow and he carefully left this open as a possibility.

As he said to the correspondents, a change in international atmosphere is more important than any specific plan.

"Atmosphere comes first. Action comes later."

I'm told that in his quiet way, Mr. Hammarskjöld has achieved surprising results in changing that atmosphere, especially in the Middle East.

As a matter of fact, the secretary-general even laughed at this press conference and when glacier-like Mr. Hammarskjöld laughs, the situation can't be too bad.

LONDON LETTER

Sunshine and Bathing Belles

LONDON—News has drifted over here that there has been criticism about the fact that in the new Canadian stamp to honor the achievements of the Press the name of the country has been up-ended.

Apparently this is not unique.

Young Mac has just got a letter from his friend Kristoph, visiting his family in Germany.

The stamp marks the rebuilding of Europe, with the large word, Europa, featured with scaffolding around it. Country of origin, Deutsche, is on its end just as Canada is on the Press stamp.

Incidentally, it is just as well for Kristoph that he's in Germany now. He's getting a rest from the very tough time he's been having from the boys at the school he and Mac go to.

His full name is Kristoph von Braun and for a long time he had never failed to let everybody know that his uncle is Werner von Braun, much publicized key man in the United States' satellite development (Life cover, Disney short, etc.). But since the U.S. flopnik, poor Kristoph's life at school has been a misery.

Main preoccupation of the British at the present moment—planning their summer holidays.

They're creatures of habit in this part of the world and one of their lifelong habits is to start deciding, the moment Christmas is finished, where they'll go in the coming summer.

SYNOPSIS—The mild weather in most regions of British Columbia will continue through the next 24 to 48 hours as a fitting finale to one of the warmest, wettest winter months in this corner of the world. Another active disturbance off the Washington coast is expected to move inland mainly over Washington and Oregon, but fringe effects will be felt in Southern B.C. Fresh to strong southeast winds will develop along the west coast of Vancouver Island and in Georgia Strait with showers this evening in southern coastal regions.

Blind Means Test Must Go—CCF

Abolition of the means test for blind pensioners and an increase in the basic social assistance grants was called for Tuesday by Cedric Cox, new CCF member of the Legislature for Burnaby.

"The time has come when all of us should recognize the social problem of our needy and sick citizens and treat them with the same respect we would like to get ourselves," Mr. Cox said in his maiden speech.

Most blind persons have to pay for care of one kind or another, he said, and should not be compelled to submit to a means test.

Mr. Cox said old age pensioners in B.C. can receive up to $75 a month with the provincial cost-of-living bonus, while single persons on social assistance or mother's allowance have to live on $50 a month.

A couple living on the old age pension can receive $150, while a couple on social assistance receive only $76.50.

Mr. Cox said the government,

UBC Campaign For Funds Near $5 Million Mark

VANCOUVER (CP)—The University of British Columbia development fund has reached a total of $4,965,525.87, 66.2 per cent of the $7,500,000 objective.

Included in the total were contributions of $55,000 from Western Canada Breweries Limited and $50,000 from Ocean Cement Limited. Among fund raising divisions, B.C. personal gifts, under the leadership of Walter C. Koerner, continues to hold the lead with 68.4 per cent of its quota, a total of $2,013,312, so far collected.

Two Jails To Close In Province

Attorney-General Bonner confirmed in the Legislature, Tuesday, that the provincial government intends to close down the Nelson jail and Prince George women's jail.

It has been found that it is better to bring prisoners from these areas to the Lower Mainland, Mr. Bonner said.

The changes are part of the planned reorganization of the provincial jail system referred to in the Throne Speech at the opening of the current session. The reorganization is partly the result of completion last year of the new Haney correctional institute.

NO CUTBACK

Denying that the government is cutting down on essential services such as jail staff in its current economy drive, Mr. Bonner said there are now 798 jail workers and 26 probation workers in the province. These figures compare with 308 jail workers and 16 probation workers in 1952.

Meanwhile, a delegation from Nelson city council will come to Victoria to protest to Attorney-General Bonner the closing of the jail there.

Mayor T. S. Shorthouse said closing of the jail would be a serious loss to the city. Twelve families and a payroll of about $75,000 are involved, he said.

Meanwhile, Mr. Bonner said in an interview plans are "almost decided" to re-locate the New Haven Borstal School at Haney.

He said the move is being considered because of better training facilities which would be available in the new jail at Haney, but made it clear the Borstal institution would not be located in the jail.

The plan would be to place it close by so that the Borstal inmates would have access to the jail classrooms.

Atomic Artillery Supplied To UN Forces in S. Korea

SEOUL, Korea (Reuters)—The arrival of the guns is regarded by observers as the most important step taken since the UN command announced seven months ago that it no longer considered itself bound by the section of the 1953 Korean truce agreement banning introduction of new weapons into the country.

Speaking at a press conference, the spokesman refused to say how many of the big guns have been brought in or when they arrived. He also declined to say whether the cannons, capable of firing both atomic and conventional shells, were accompanied by atomic-warhead shells.

According to South Korean military intelligence, North Korean Communists have six atomic cannons of unknown size.

60th Annual Report

Reflects continued progress of National Trust

Assets at New High

Last year, total assets under administration reached an all-time high of $615,000,000 compared with $568,000,000 for the previous year.

Personal Trusts up $50,000,000

There was a net increase of over $50,000,000 in assets handled by our Personal Trust Departments, due in part to the marked growth of our Pension Trust business. The value of trust assets being administered has increased nearly 100% in ten years.

Profits

For the first time, profits exceeded one million dollars after deducting amounts appropriated to reserves. They amounted to $1,045,910, as compared with $960,458 for the previous year. Dividends for the year were increased from $1.50 to $1.60 per share.

Increase in Savings Accounts

During the year, the interest rate on our savings deposits was increased to 3½% per annum. There was a substantial growth in the number of new accounts and a satisfactory increase in the amount on deposit.

Tuberous Begonias Can be Started Now

Beautiful displays of tuberous begonias needed for centennial year porch planters may be started now, if you have tubers on hand from last year.

The first step is to inspect the tubers closely for any sign of softness or rot. Small soft spots may be cut out with a sharp pocket knife and the cavity dusted with flowers of sulphur.

It is usually not too difficult to determine the upper side of begonia tubers. The dormant growth buds can be seen on the surface, while the under side is somewhat rounded and smooth.

Prepare a shallow box or metal tray with an inch layer of loose material which will hold moisture. You have the choice between terralite (horticultural type of vermiculite), peat moss, earth-aid (a new granulated form of powdered rock or a fairly fine sand).

Dampen the chosen material moderately, and place the tubers with the rounded side worked down about a half inch into the material.

Choose a warm place out of direct sun where the temperature will be between 60 and 70 degrees F. day and night.

Daily inspection will be needed in order that sufficient dampness is maintained in the material. Moisture plus warmth plus the time of year will encourage root formation and, later, top growth.

Action will be slow for the first three or four weeks, so do not be discouraged. It is essential that growth is started indoors in order to have plants sufficiently advanced to flower bountifully outdoors all summer and fall.

All young couples interested in starting gardens are invited to attend the Victoria Horticultural Society's monthly talk in the council chamber of the City Hall on Tuesday, Feb. 4, at 7.30 p.m. The subject will be "Beginning a Garden."

6-Day Shopping Under Fire By 54 Merchants

R. Milliken Heads Building Trades Union

Vancouver Island Building Trades Council has elected a new slate of seven officers, all from Victoria, headed by teamsters' representative Robert Milliken as 1958 president.

Others chosen at a recent annual meeting in Nanaimo of the 26 affiliated unions were:

Plane on Fire Lands Safely

SEATTLE (AP)—A Northwest-Orient Airlines DC-7C carrying 27 passengers and a crew of five made an emergency landing at Seattle-Tacoma International Airport, Tuesday night, after an engine caught fire on takeoff.

Fire crews quickly doused the flames as passengers slid to safety down a canvas chute.

A. Bruce Humber spokesman for the group, said today the minister had promised consideration of their stand when the new Municipal Act comes up for amendment at the present session of the legislature.

NO CHANGE

The group requested no change be made in the shop closing regulations of the Act providing for a 5½-day week. They also suggested an independent province-wide survey be taken to determine the wishes of the majority of merchants.

The group sent the letter to Mr. Black to counter a brief presented to the cabinet last November by the Six-Day Shopping Week Committee in Victoria, urging elimination of the half-day closing of retail stores.

The letter said that present "staggering" of working hours of store employees would be increased by a six-day week making it impossible for small operations to afford enough help to assure satisfactory service to customers.

Increased costs for part-time help "can only be paid from one place and that is the ultimate consumer," the letter said. "Thus the cost of living is increased and the standard of service is lowered."

The group also said that employees dislike staggered hours and pointed out that 279 out of 522 persons recently canvassed by a Retail Merchants' Association questionnaire favored the 5½-day week.

PARATROOP HERO NAMED SUCCESSOR TO MONTY

PARIS (Reuters)—Gen. Sir Richard Gale, British paratrooper hero of the Second World War, Tuesday night was appointed deputy supreme Allied commander in Europe in succession to Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery.

Gen. Lauris Norstad of the United States, supreme Allied commander, announced that Gale, 61, who has been in retirement for a year, will take over the post Sept. 21. Montgomery announced his own retirement on his 70th birthday last year but agreed to continue as deputy commander until Sept. 20.

Gale had a distinguished record in two world wars. He formed Britain's first airborne army and established the first Allied foothold in Normandy with his 6th Airborne Division.

Two Jewelled Pins Worth $150 Stolen

Theft of two jewelled pins valued at $150 from a Cook Street apartment was reported to city police Monday night.

The owner, Miss R. A. Burley, said she left her suite at 349 Cook at 2:15 p.m. and when she returned at 9:30 p.m. the pins were gone.

A neighbor said two young men left the apartment about 3 p.m.

Elders Elected At Metropolitan

Eighteen elders were elected at the annual meeting of Metropolitan United Church.

They are Clinton Waggoner, Donald McAllister, W. L. McLean, John Reimer, John Slagboom, Kenneth Wright, John Droppers, C. Wesley Gordon, Arthur Bitter, C. Hamlett, William Munton, Rev. J. R. Butler, R. A. Sharrocks, Colin Ratcliffe, Michael Harris, Chris Combe, Howard Evans and W. E. Hart.

R. M. Lochhead and W. Stanley Moore were elected to the board of trustees.

Named to the committee of stewards were Jack Clark, G.

N. Ledger, Stewart Pringle, Maj. W. H. Ruffell, W. H. Yardley, C. A. Markle, Ken Briggs, Gordon Holmes, W. H. Yardley Jr., Ted Sewell, F. W. Tilson and Maj. S. S. Penny.

The church gave $23,000 for mission work in 1957. Dr. F. E. H. James told the meeting.

75 Attending Church Parley

Some 75 ministers and delegates from Victoria and up-Island are attending a two-day meeting of Victoria presbytery of the United Church of Canada at Oak Bay United.

The spring session opened today with a business meeting, at which Rev. D. B. Carr, presbytery chairman, presided.

A missions' night program will start at 7:30 p.m. Thursday's session starts at 9:30 a.m.

NORWAY ORCHIDS

A Norwegian grower now is exporting orchids to Finland, Sweden and Switzerland.

MICKLEOVER, England.

(AP)—Having thought the matter over at some length, 13-year-old Lloyd Lee has abandoned his dream of becoming the world's first Sputnik pilot.

What business has a chap got in outer space when he swoons at sea level?

It is hoped the Russians can take a joke. In any case the Soviet embassy in London may as well ignore Lloyd's letter of Jan. 21 offering to man or boy a Sputnik for them. He is no longer available, and he wasn't too available to begin with.

Lloyd is a student at the Queen Elizabeth Grammar School, where recently a rumor went the rounds that the Soviet Union stands ready to fork out $140,000 a head for Sputnik skippers.

Lloyd, an imaginative chap, fired off a letter of acceptance to the embassy in London.

REPORT TO SIBERIA

Two days ago he received a letter headed "Russian Embassy"—and typed in red, yet. It advised him that he had been chosen as a prospective Sputnik jockey and added:

"You will be required to do some training in Siberia. Our agents will be contacting you within the next few days to take you away for training."

At this point it became obvious that Lloyd was far short of starting condition for a space flight—he fainted.

"I was frightened out of my wits," his mother said later. She summoned his father home from work to guard Lloyd from the Red press gangs, locked all the doors and windows, and telephoned the police.

A detective assigned to the case reported after an inquiry that notepaper of the kind used for the letter to Lloyd had been found in a certain upper-class desk at the Queen Elizabeth school. More conclusive still, certain upper-classmen confessed writing the letter.

Mrs. Lee, greatly relieved, told a reporter: "Lloyd no longer wishes to be a spaceman. He now wants to join the merchant navy."

The Soviet embassy so far has had no comment.

WEAKER SEX TURNS STRONG

BELGRADE (AP)—A peasant girl who changed sex is going to serve in the Yugoslav army. Marija Djolan, 20, an unmarried girl from the village of Rumboc, recently underwent a sex-change operation came home in trousers and took a man's job. The army call followed.

'Juveniles Need Tough Treatment'

Tougher treatment for juveniles who commit serious criminal offences was urged in the Legislature Tuesday by Mrs. Buda Brown (SC, Vancouver-Point Grey).

NEW BLOOD FOR CHAMBER

A membership campaign will be launched by the Victoria Chamber of Commerce in April, Arnold Webb, managing secretary, said today. It will seek to increase its membership from 700 to 1,000, he said.

Membership campaign committee consists of William Yardley, Eric Mollett and Lee Briggs.

New Board Of Review Under WCB

A three-man board of review has been set up by the B.C. Workmen's Compensation Board to hear appeals by workmen and employers.

First edition released Tuesday, of a new bulletin to be published monthly by WCB, described the action as a major revision in claims handling procedure.

Workmen whose claims have been rejected on grounds that they did not come within the scope of the Act will be able to appeal to the board of review. Employers also will be able to appeal decisions of the claims department.

The board of review will consist of the chief claim supervisor, medical officer and chief solicitor. Its decisions can be appealed direct to the WCB commissions.

Comment from labor officials here was reserved until the new arrangement could be studied. A special brief submitted by several union organizations to the cabinet last year criticized the number of claims rejections. The WCB also has introduced a simplified claim form designed to speed processing of claims.

Seats on UBC Senate For Victoria College

A bill that will give Victoria College representation on the University of B.C. senate was given first reading in the legislature Tuesday.

The college will be represented by two professors to be elected by members of the faculty.

FIRST TIME

It is the first time the college has had a seat in the senate, although there was a form of representation under the former normal school setup.

Another bill given first reading Tuesday raises the amount which a husband may be ordered to pay under the Wives' and Children's Maintenance Act.

The maximum amount that may be ordered by the court to

"They need stricter discipline and plenty of hard work," Mrs. Brown said.

It is foolish to place on probation young offenders who have been convicted of breaking and entering or stealing a car.

Sending these offenders to gleaming new institutions such as the new Haney jail will not change their attitudes, Mrs. Brown said.

"An industrial school should mean just that," the member said.

20 PER CENT FAIL

Mrs. Brown praised the rehabilitative work accomplished at the New Haven school. In the last 10 years 500 boys have been in New Haven with only about 20 per cent that would be classed as failures.

She urged the government to consider carefully any proposed changes. There have been reports the New Haven Institute will be abolished in favor of the facilities at the new Haney institution.

MORE PARKS

Mrs. Brown's other main plea was for the setting aside of more parklands.

The province cannot afford to neglect the recreational needs of the people, she said.

"This government will never lose one dollar spent on providing accommodation for the many thousands who wish to spend their leisure time in the great outdoors."

Mrs. Brown urged the government to speed up development of roads into Garibaldi Park.

"It would seem to me that the many unemployed could be put to work in that area now, especially between Britannia and Squamish."

WINNIPEG (CP)—Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the Western Interprovincial Football Union announced the signing of import Garland Warren, a 228-pound offensive tackle and centre linebacker from North Texas State.

he paid will be increased from $40 weekly to $75 weekly.

Friday Service Set for Pioneer

Funeral service for pioneer Victorian Alfred Chadwick, who died Tuesday at the age of 88, will be held at Hayward's Chapel Friday at 3 p.m.

Mr. Chadwick was born in Victoria on Nov. 19, 1869, 11 years to the day after the Crown colony of British Columbia came into being.

His parents had sailed around Cape Horn from the Old Country in 1858.

Mr. Chadwick's father operated the old International Hotel which was a stopping place for fortune-hunters en route to the Cariboo gold rush.

Mr. Chadwick attended Boys' Central School here and later became a picture framer, working for 47 years at the former Sommer's Picture Shop on Fort Street.

He is survived by the widow Bessie Ann at home, 2526 Graham.

Archdeacon A. E. del. Nunn will officiate at the service. Burial will be in Ross Bay Cemetery.

Roy Has Faith

Campy 'Better' But Still Remains On 'Danger' List

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP) — Roy Campanella is using the same comforting refuge today which helped him through a hundred tight spots.

"I'm praying."

That's always been Roy's ace in the hole. And he was praying hopefully today as he lay in a Glen Cove hospital with a broken neck suffered in an automobile accident.

Doctors found Roy "somewhat better" today, although still paralyzed.

A medical bulletin issued at 10 a.m. reported that physicians "were encouraged after this morning's examination," even though "the paralysis remains the same and he remains on the danger list."

It was the second straight hopeful medical report on the condition of the 36-year-old catching star, who escaped death Tuesday in an auto accident by just one inch.

Prayers worked for him often before. They had to for this roly-poly man to make it all the way from the Negro sandlots to one of the top spots in baseball.

You remember some of the tight spots as you look back over his career, one replete with broken bones, fractures, operations and flaming tendons. Like the time in 1931 when he went down the basement to light the gas heater and it blew up in his face.

ALMOST BLIND

For a few moments Roy thought he was blind. There was a question as to how much damage had been done to his eyesight.

"I prayed hard," Roy said. Treatments cleared it.

That same year he was beamed on the left ear. But despite it all, Campy came back to win most valuable player honors for the first of three times.

Campy, a beaming Buddha, could be a clown or a gadfly on the field. He was there to run the pitchers and wield a big bat. That he did in a hall of fame manner. Off-the-field campaigns he left to others. Billy Mosienko was credited with good and making a living and a future for his family.

They kidded him once about parking his big, flashy Cadillac in front of his Harlem liquor store. Campy grinned.

"Shucks," he said, "that's so the people know I'm there. When they do, they come in and buy. That's good business—not vanity."

Another time they asked him about dissension on the team: "Dissension?" he asked. "I dunno. Maybe we got no pitchers, but what we do got is harmony."

HARMONY MAN

He was always a harmony man. Like the time he crashed into big Luke Easter, playing third base for a rival Negro league team. Roy kept right on running, across home plate, through the dugout and into the locker room. Later he placated the still-angry Easter:

"Wait a minute, Luke. You don't think a little guy like me is gonna hit a big guy like you, do you? I ain't that dumb."

There is nothing dumb about Campy. As he once told Sandy Koufax, when the young pitcher asked him if he played golf:

"Listen, son, they don't pay you for foolin' around with that little ball with the dimples. You get paid for handlin' that big ball with the stitches. Remember that and you'll be okay."

That's Campy's secret of success—"prayin' and tryin'." Which is why they're not counting him "out" yet. Campy will make it back if it's humanly possible. Maybe even if it isn't possible for most humans. Because Roy has a genuine faith in his prayers—and helps them along as much as possible personally.

LONG-DISTANCE CALL

Comfortably seated, Richard Manning toots his whistle while officiating by television in Los Angeles basketball gym. Special system is used to transmit action to adjoining room, where the ref is stationed and microphone relays whistle and call to the court. Official has wider view of play and doesn't get in way of players. Experiment was labelled a success.

COWBOYS TRIUMPH

Castoff Comes Back To Help Topple 'Peg

WINNIPEG (CP) — Calgary Stampede made two first-period goals stand up Tuesday night for a 2-1 victory over Winnipeg Warriors in a Western Hockey League Prairie Division game before 1,407 fans.

The win moved Stamps to within one point of third-place Saskatoon-St. Paul Regals. Warriors remained in first place, two points ahead of Edmonton Flyers.

George Ford, obtained last week along with Murray Wilkie from Warriors in a trade for Steve Witluk, scored one Calgary goal. Defenceman Sandy Hucul got the other. Billy Mosienko was credited with Winnipeg's lone goal when Dusty Blair knocked the puck into his own net in the second period.

FIGHT BREAKS OUT

Winnipeg took four of the seven penalties handed out, which included majors to Kent Douglas, of Warriors, and Wayne Hicks, of Calgary, for fighting, in the middle session.

Both goaltenders turned in smart performances. Al Rollins turned aside 26 shots for Calgary while Ray Mikulan stopped 24 for Warriors, including 14 in the last period.

NEW YORK (AP)—The professional golf tour has become a stereotyped, push-button operation without much of its old glamour, Sam Snead said Tuesday.

The hillbilly professional from White Sulphur Springs, West Va., here to be honored by metropolitan golf writers, said tight rules and regulations are robbing the game of its individualism.

"When you step out on a tee nowadays you don't have to just worry about hitting the ball," Snead said. "You have to watch your P's and Q's in conduct."

"If you try a practice putt you may be fined $50. If you use a little polite profanity you get stuck for $75 or $100. Get over and break a club and it may cost you $500."

CORAL GABLES, Fla.—We

threw from St. Petersburg to Coral Gables and we couldn't help but notice during the six-hour trip how much the air grew warmer as we travelled south.

That was perhaps my most interesting trip since I arrived in Florida.

Our route took us through the Everglades and the land of the Seminole Indians. Tall reeds flanked canals along both sides of the road and the swamps stretched endlessly into the distance.

Tall, white, stork-like birds stood among the reeds, keeping a silent vigil over the still waters. Now and then this serene scene was interrupted when a sharp beak was thrust quickly into the water and, invariably, into a fish.

The whiteness of the birds was in marked contrast to the Negroes squatting along the canals, holding bamboo fishing poles.

Both man and bird waited patiently for supper.

Occasionally we saw a Seminole trading village with its reed-roofed huts standing on stilts in the swamp.

Coral Gables, a section of Miami, is a typical resort town. Here, the living standard for the average person seems much lower than elsewhere. The rich and poor of

Only one of the two top-seeded women's double badminton teams in the city will see action in the finals of the Victoria City badminton championships Saturday when they are held at the Victoria Lawn Tennis and Badminton Club's Amphion Street courts.

Rated number one on the city rolls, Claire King and Jill Kelly swept into the finals Tuesday night with a 15-5, 15-11 semi-final victory over Sharon Whitaker and Jane Lee, a pair of determined juniors.

The King-Kelly twosome had drawn a bye through the quarter-finals.

Upset of the tobrney came when second-seeded Maureen Bray and Bev Anderson fell in their semi-final match against Mrs. M. Smith and Mrs. I. Knott, losing by scores of 15-9, 15-2.

The unheralded Smith-Knott pairing had eliminated Libby Boak and Joy Wassen, 15-2, 15-4, in the quarter-finals.

Other results and tonight's draw follow:

SEMI-FINALS

Diana Parsons and Jane Lee defeated Joy Wassen and Libby Boak, 15-2, 15-4.

Jo Crampson and Barbara Ford defeated John and J. Massey, 15-4, 15-9.

Even on Unhappy Days Pat Sees Silver Lining

Royals at Arena Tonight; Americans Down Canucks

There are days when even Pat Egan finds it difficult to be optimistic.

Like today, for instance.

Since he took over as coach of Victoria Cougars, the burly Irishman has been expecting the Cats to start a drive that would carry them into the Western Hockey League's Coast Division playoffs.

Fielder Adds Goal, Assist To Point Total

SEATTLE (CP)—The sharp-shooting centre for Seattle Americans, Guyle Fielder, continued in his charge toward a second straight Western Hockey League scoring title Tuesday night by adding a goal and an assist to his already towering point total.

He now has a total of 69 points on 15 goals and 54 assists to lead Vancouver's Phil Maloney by 11 and Victoria Cougars' Ed Dorohoy by 14 points.

Maloney picked up an assist in the game, won by Seattle 5-3. Leading scorers follow:

Player	GP	G	A	Pts
Fielder, Seattle	15	15	54	69
Maloney, Vancouver	42	28	32	60
Dorohoy, Victoria	42	28	36	64
Lidde, Edmonton	42	28	36	64
Finney, Calgary	42	27	35	62
Sutton, Winnipeg	45	17	39	56

McNab, New Westminster	42	14	31	45
Melnik, Edmonton	37	15	29	44

TIME OUT! JEFF KEATS

"Gosh! What a penalty they must've handed out to him!"

Largest Gain By McKenney

MONTREAL (CP)—A couple of fellows well down the scoring list supplied plenty of fireworks in last week's National Hockey League action, but not enough to cause Montreal Canadiens' leading triumvirate even to look back.

Don McKenney, of Boston Bruins, a team that had the best record for the week, ran wild with four goals and four assists and soared from a 20th-place tie to a 10th-place lead.

SOLUTION MONDAY

Students to Debate Top World Issues

Three top world issues will occupy the minds of some 60 high school students who meet here in a month for the second annual session of the Model UN General Assembly.

Two delegates from each of at least 28 schools on southern Vancouver Island will meet in Victoria High School gymnasium Feb. 28-March 1.

Admission of Red China, Algerian independence and international control of nuclear weapons will be debated by "representatives" from 30 major countries, including Russia. The model assembly will be run entirely by student members of the United Nations Inter-High Council, sponsored by Victoria branch of the United Nations Association in Canada.

Artists Ask 'Premiere' Of Exhibition

TORONTO (CP) — Leading traditional painters in Toronto have challenged the National Gallery at Ottawa to show in advance the paintings to be sent to the Brussels World Fair in April as representative of Canada.

The pictures are being selected by a committee of three art gallery officials and two art critics. The Toronto painters say the names of the 22 painters are hardly known in Canada.

DIVORCES

Divorces were granted in Victoria divorce court Tuesday to: John Oosteweg, 3465 Saanich Road, Saanich, from Emily Oosteweg, 3195 Stevenson Place, Victoria. They were married in the Netherlands in 1951.

George Robinson, 1222 Gladstone Avenue, Victoria, from Joyce Robinson, 631 Head Street, Esquimalt. Married Fernside, Wash., U.S.A., 1955. Joseph Hubert Roberge, Royal Canadian Army, Camp Borden, Ont., from Vivian Roberge—now in Winnipeg. Married Duncan, B.C., 1945.

High Prisoner Count Crowds Victoria Jail

January is shaping up as a record month for prisoners in Victoria city jail where space is at a premium on three cell levels.

Tuesday morning there were 38 men and women inside, reduced after court to 33.

Last Saturday there were 42 prisoners, biggest number since Oct. 12, 1957, when there were 44.

October was the record month for 1957, with 838 prisoner days, compared with 530 in February, 1957, the lowest month of the year.

Since 1953 prisoner-day totals have mounted steadily with the exception of one year. Conditions point to a need for greater lockup facilities for Victoria, which shares drunk tank and cell space with the RCMP, Saanich, Esquimalt, Oak Bay and Central Saanich.

Increasing use of segregated cell accommodation has been made by juvenile authorities with full-house accommodation at the juvenile detention home. During most of this month so far total prisoners per day have been over 30. Since the 10th only three days have shown totals under 30 and the lowest figure was 12.

Average figure is around 25 according to 1957 totals.

Jan. 24 there were 40 prisoners, Jan. 26 there were 41 and Jan. 18 there were 43.

In 1953 there were 6,268 prisoner-days; 1954, 6,593; 1955, 6,847; 1956, 6,622 and in 1957 8,027.

Youths Sent Up To Assize Court

Three youths, charged with breaking and entering Economy Steam Laundry, Tuesday were committed for trial in Assize Court.

The youths—Harry Douglas Hoskin, 19, of Mt. Newton Crossroad; Ronald Leslie McMeekin, 18, of 1906 Birch, and Norman Karl McKenzie, 20, 1035 Empress have elected trial by judge and jury. They were committed today in city police court.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Marlene Brown, aged 11, of St. Catharines, Ont., for her question:

How Does a Match Work?

A match is a small man-made substance catches fire. Some substances must get very hot before they burn. The chemicals on a match head need only the warmth created by rubbing on a rough surface.

When you build a fire in the grate, you put in paper, strips of wood, then lumps of coal. You light a match and put the flame to the paper. This is because the paper has the lowest kindling point of the three fuels. It generates heat as it burns. The heat reaches the kindling point of the wood. The wood catches fire. This generates more heat than the burning paper—enough heat to reach the kindling point of the coal.

Kindling point is most important when chemicals are chosen to make the match-head. Most of the recipes used for this job contain a phosphorous sulphide compound. Pure phosphorous has such a low kindling point that it is kept under water. Potassium chlorate, saltpeter and red lead may also be used in the recipe.

Two Chemicals Join Forces

These chemicals are combustible, which means they burn at the slightest excuse. Two chemical recipes are used to coat the tip of the workaday kitchen match. The match stick is made from prepared pine wood and coated with a substance which slows up the burning process. We do not want the flame to burn the match stick in a few seconds.

The tip of a kitchen match is dipped into two chemical baths. Each one provides the blob of red. The chemicals in this recipe are highly combustible. But they will not ignite when you strike them on a rough surface. They need more heat than this to reach their kindling point.

The extra heat is provided for when the match gets the second chemical bath. This puts a blue eye on the red blob. And the chemicals in this recipe are so combustible that they ignite when rubbed on a rough surface. As they burn, they make enough heat to ignite the chemicals in the red blob. The match bursts into flame in two little jerks.

Andy sends a Hammond's International World Globe to Dane

Pierce, age nine, of Walterboro, S.C., for his question:

How many planets are there?

We know of nine planets in our Solar System. The last of these was discovered only 28 years ago. Some astronomers suspect that there is still another planet, maybe two more, waiting to be found. One day we may learn that a tenth and eleventh planet has been spotted in our Solar family.

The ancients knew of only six planets—Mercury, Venus, Earth, Mars, Jupiter and Saturn. For these are the only ones our eyes can see. The rest had to wait for the invention of the telescope.

Uranus was spotted in 1781. This far-away brother may be seen daily by the naked eye if you know exactly where to look. Neptune was discovered in 1846 and no one has eyes sharp enough to see this planet without a telescope.

Little Pluto, the farthest planet we know of, was spotted in January of 1930. It is a small planet, and so far away that it is a mere dot, even on telescope pictures.

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFS

Cyril Shelford (SC-Omineca) gave notice Tuesday he will introduce a bill in the legislature this session to incorporate the Dental Technicians and Public Denturist Society of B.C.

Incorporation would be the first step in the technicians' drive to be allowed to sell dentures directly to the public. At present they must deal through a dentist.

P. E. George was named honorary warden of St. Mark's Church at a recent annual meeting.

Canon Robert Willis appointed Alfred Cullen rector's warden, and Harold Saich was elected people's warden.

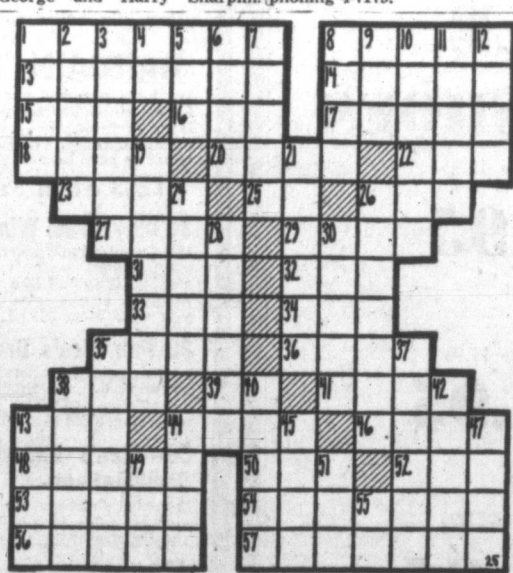

New church committee members are F. A. Virgin, Lawrence Webb, S. A. Holman, R. L. Flint, W. R. Gibbs, Richard Price, A. W. Willis, G. S. Stephenson, A. W. Weston, Mrs. C. D. George, Miss Dorothy George and Harry Sharplin.

Treasurer is Ronald Aldred; secretary, Mr. Cullen, and envelope secretary, J. D. Marshall. Arnold Boden was named deputy warden to St. Christopher's mission, in the parish of St. Mark's.

Refusing to be outdone by the early blooming garden flowers, the wild Indian plum, which normally blooms in March, has put forth its flowers alongside the road at Swartz Bay.

This shrub is a showy plant as the flowers are a little ahead of the leaves, and often resemble bits of white cotton stuck on a bush.

Square dancing classes are open for enrollment by girls and boys between 15 and 17 years of age at the YWCA, Blanshard and Courtney. Classes start at 7.30 p.m. every Thursday. Those interested can enroll by attending or phoning 4-7179.

Space Problem Hits Church At Qualicum

QUALICUM BEACH—Outstanding year of activity was reviewed at the annual meeting of St. Stephen's United Church here.

Problem of space is becoming acute, and the Sunday school, with a membership of 104, is renting space in the adjoining community hall to accommodate overflow classes. A new church hall may be needed, with possible enlargement of the church itself, if the present trend continues.

A good financial year showed a substantial balance. Ladies' organizations were active, with WA donating $330 and Evening Circle $130 towards a new furnace in the manse. Missionary and maintenance fund received $530 and Union College Vancouver $200, and the United Church Observer is sent free to all members in the district.

Re-elected to the board of stewards for further terms were R. J. Crighton, D. B. Dixon, J. Burchett, Mrs. E. Sanders and Ray Ego. William Holmes, Little Qualicum, was added to the board. Rev. Robert Moses is minister in charge.

Island Regional Library Boosted Book Circulation

NANAIMO—Vancouver Island Regional Library circulation increased by 49,339 in 1957 to a total of 464,677, librarian W. R. Taggart noted in his annual report.

A large part of the increased service came about through longer hours at branches in Courtenay, Alberni, Campbell River, Lake Cowichan, and Port Alberni.

A new bookmobile van route in the Nanaimo district will serve Cedar, South Wellington, Extension, Cassidy and Chase River, and a stop at Bamberton has been added to the route in Cowichan School District.

Mr. Taggart reported a plebiscite will be held shortly in Saltair on establishment of library service. He said more spacious quarters were opened during the past year at Campbell River and Lake Cowichan, and expressed hope that facilities in Nanaimo might be improved.

Area served by the regional library has 77,477 residents, Mr. Taggart reported. The library now has 22 branches, 173 bookmobile stops, 65 school libraries, and a total book stock of 72,613 volumes, an increase of 6,181 volumes over the 1956 total.

Smoke Ejector Clears Trouble

CAMPBELL RIVER—Mrs. Guy Winter had to call the fire department when a fire in her fireplace refused to make use of the chimney.

Smoke from burning paper was prevented from taking the usual course by low clouds, heavy rain and the absence of breeze.

R. C. Hamill Heads Air Force Officers

New president of the Air Force Officers' Association of Vancouver Island is Robin C. Hamill, 2631 Arbutus.

Also elected at the annual meeting were H. L. Woodson, vice-president; Percy E. Wilkinson, secretary; Gerry Haddon, treasurer; Eric Mallett, membership; and David Monk, publicity.

Former officers of Commonwealth or allied air forces are eligible to join the association. If interested, they should call Mr. Mallett at 0-2344.

Frank Bernard, chairman of the committee's special events department, said in making the announcement Tuesday night the salmon derby will be the world's largest from the standpoint of prizes.

"We are hoping to attract fishermen from all over North America and beyond," he said. There will be 100 other prizes besides the first prize.

TEST PAYS OFF

KELOWNA—"Open" visiting hours instituted at Kelowna General Hospital recently have proved "an unqualified success," hospital officials say.

Success of the experiment in permitting friends and relatives to see patients at any time likely will result in permanent adoption of the scheme.

ARCHDEACON DIES

NELSON—Ven. Frederick Heller Graham, archdeacon emeritus of Kootenay and rector emeritus of St. Saviour's Cathedral here, died Tuesday. He was 87 and was ill for some time.

Archdeacon Graham was born in Liverpool and came to Canada in 1887. He graduated from McGill University and Montreal Diocesan College and was a curate in Brantford, Ont., in 1896. He was later rector of Trinity Church in Montreal and came to Nelson in 1902. He is survived by two daughters.

DEATHS ACCIDENTAL

PRINCE GEORGE—A coroner's jury decided Tuesday night that a Salmon Valley farmer and his Indian woman died accidentally near Prince George last week.

Nelson Degrasse and Sarah Prince were found Saturday near a gravel pit two miles west of the city limits. A snow-covered pickup truck was found at the scene. The jury heard evidence that the pair had fallen victims to a combination of carbon-monoxide poisoning and exposure.

Driver Fined, Loses Licence

NANAIMO—A motorist who collided with a parked vehicle on Haliburton Street, then continued on home, was fined $100 in police court by Magistrate Lionel Beaver-Potts, and had his licence cancelled until March 31.

"There are too many hit-and-run incidents," the magistrate said.

Sooke Chief Back From CD Course

SOOKE—William Stevenson, chief of Sooke Volunteer Fire Department, has returned from Arnprior, Ont., where he attended a civil defence course in radiology.

Fred Oakes will start a similar course late in February.

SIRENS HERALD OPENING DATE FOR FIREMEN

LADYSMITH—A fire truck toured the North Oyster district this week with its siren screaming to let residents know the North Oyster Volunteer Fire Department was "open for business."

The truck had been overhauled and converted for fire-fighting with the addition of an 800-gallon water tank, and required hose.

Temporary Manager For Nanaimo Arena

NANAIMO—Lloyd Bertram has accepted a position as temporary manager of the Civic Arena here, replacing William Oliver, who is now manager of the Victoria Curling Rink.

His pay will be $82.50 per week. His original request had been for $400 per month, but Mayor Pete Maffeo said all available funds should be spent on facilities rather than supervision.

Mr. Bertram was appointed by Nanaimo Recreation and Park Commission. The commission will advertise for a parks and recreation manager.

What's The Truth About Danger In X-Rays?

Incredible as it might seem, the common X-ray machine may be more hazardous than the fall-out from atomic bomb. The threat is primarily to unborn children and grand-children.

This problem is worrying millions. An authoritative report appears in February Reader's Digest. Here are the basic facts about the potential danger in X-rays. Get your February Reader's Digest today: 33 articles of lasting interest, condensed to save your time.

NO SNEERS AT PLODDING LIBERTIES... BUT

Oldtimers on Waterfront 'Feast' on New Freighters

By MONTE ROBERTS

Oldtimers along the Vancouver Island waterfront are keeping appreciative eyes cocked at a taste of luxury added.

The oldtimers, of course, refused to sneer at the plodding 12 knots—well, maybe 14 with a following sea—Liberties. Because these quickly-built, mostly-welded ships did the job they were designed for: to help with a war.

$100,000 Water System In Operation

UCLUELET—A municipal water system costing $100,000 has gone into operation here and is serving 120 customers.

Having no source of water on its own terrain—narrow and rocky Ucluelet Peninsula—the village laid a pipe one-quarter mile across Ucluelet Inlet from Port Alberni.

A pump and storage tank are situated in Ucluelet.

In addition to having the convenience of piped water to their homes, residents hope the new development will attract new residents and industries.

Salt Spring Island Phone Service Being Improved

SALT SPRING ISLAND—A construction crew is laying cable and distribution wire in the Fulford Harbor district and service is being extended to Southey Point in a $45,000-improvement program by B.C. Telephone Company.

"Main purpose of the project is to reduce the number of subscribers on many multi-party lines and to bring service to a number of waiting applicants," said E. L. Mallett, division commercial manager.

The work is scheduled for completion by the end of March. The Ganges exchange now includes more than 650 phones, almost a threefold increase since 1945.

unpleasantness, the oldtimers are having a feast of new, fast, merchantmen—with more than a taste of luxury added.

The oldtimers, of course, refused to sneer at the plodding 12 knots—well, maybe 14 with a following sea—Liberties. Because these quickly-built, mostly-welded ships did the job they were designed for: to help with a war.

As for the ship owners who bought them from the various maritime commissions, most of them got their $1,000,000 or so investment back before the ships went to the boneyard.

But now the oldtimers' eyes are delighted with sights such as that presented by the Swedish motorship Kiriibilli.

SPEED

Kiriibilli, which was lifting lumber at Victoria Ogden Point's South A dock Monday and Tuesday, exemplifies the new trend in freighters:

Speed. Her cruising rate—not top speed, but cruising—is an unusual 18. This is the speed turned up by the 10,500 horses of her diesels, watch in, watch out, while she's at sea.

Swedish-built at her home port of Gothenburg for Transatlantic Rederi A.B., she was primarily built as a freighter for the Australia wool trade—where speed counts in 1958 even as it did in the clipper ship days.

As a modern cargo carrier, she features electric winches—saving hours of loading time over the now-outmoded clink-clank steam operated jobs.

She also has roomy hatches, making her 12,500 deadweight tons, when fully loaded, high in the percentage of payload.

But the Kiriibilli also follows the modern trend to luxury.

even in freighters. She has more than comfortable accommodation for 12 passengers; crew's quarters are spotless, roomy by old-style freighter standards, and well equipped.

The office and living quarters of her shipmaster, Capt. John Nilsson, RSNR, would command extra fare on the Queen Mary.

We've had others of this type freighter visiting lately, notably Britain's Saxess Trader and the Greek-owned, Liberian Flag Grafki, both of which were in port last week.

They're added, of course, to the well-known, sleek-and-clean passenger-freighter combinations flying the house flags of Furness-Withy, Royal Mail Lines, and Holland America Lines, all of which are on regular schedules, U.K.-Pacific.

Ships such as Kiriibilli have their own distinction, inasmuch as they are not on regular schedule and are available for time charter.

CONTRAST

The oldtimers' eyes twinkle when they look at these new ships, and they can't help noting the contrast with the traditionally rusty trampers of the Liberty, Victory, and even pre-war vintage which still make fast at Ogden Point and other Island points.

There's even an oldtimer or two who doesn't hold too much with these spit-and-polish going on.

But those are oldtimers who don't have to sail in freighters.

Empire Day Parade Set For May 17 at Nanaimo

NANAIMO—Empire Day parade will be held May 17 this year, and celebrations will be held May 17, 18 and 19.

Parade chairman Les Mottishaw, reporting at a meeting of city, centennial committee, and parade representatives, said the first application for a local float had been received, and that the Seattle Pirates and Renton, Wash., bands had accepted invitations.

Mr. Mottishaw said early interest in the parade indicated it might be bigger than the procession last year, when there was a record entry of more than 100 floats and bands.

The parade will start this year at 10.30 a.m. on Nicol Street, south of the business section, will follow a route through the city centre, then disperse on Wallace Street.

'ARE YOU KIDDING?'

Bandit Flees As 'Victim' Pushes Buzzer

NANAIMO—A would-be bandit failed miserably in an attempt Monday to hold up the Queen's Hotel here.

The man approached Mrs. Hazel Fiddick, spare-time night clerk at the hotel, and asked her to cash a cheque. When he drew his hand from his pocket, however, it contained a gun instead of a cheque.

He demanded that Mrs. Fiddick hand over all the money in the hotel till.

"Are you kidding?" she asked and pressed a buzzer that brought bartender Martin Besta to the hotel lobby. By the time he had arrived the gunman had fled.

Single Unit Aged Housing Lacks Takers

NANAIMO—Single unit housing in the senior citizens' home project here might be dropped unless sufficient advance applications indicate a genuine need.

First 18 units for couples were opened last year. The project will cost an estimated $300,000 when completed.

Mrs. Theresa Murdoch, secretary of the Old Age Pensioners' Organization, is accepting applications for accommodation. Depending on demand, a decision on the type of building required for the second portion will be made next month.

Bonner Bewails B.C. Tax Share

British Columbia is not getting its fair share of federal tax revenues, Attorney-General Robert Bonner told the legislature Tuesday.

"We have great expenses if this province is to develop in a hurry," Mr. Bonner said.

The attorney-general, also minister of trade, said capital investment in B.C. last year was $1,400,000,000 while the total for the whole of Canada was only $3,000,000,000.

But the province is not getting a proportionate share of revenues, he said.

The Social Credit government

New Minimum Wage Set For Cleaners

A new minimum wage order covering the laundry, cleaning and dyeing industries has been issued by the provincial board of industrial relations.

The order will become effective March 10. It increases the minimum wage from 40 cents an hour to 75 cents an hour for male and female employees.

Minimum rates for learners have been raised from a range of 31-37 cents an hour to a range of 55-65 cents an hour. The time permitted for learners has been reduced from six months to six weeks.

The new order was made after public hearings were held on the matter.

Jail Break-Out Barely Averted

A major break-out from Victoria city lock-up was barely averted last week, it was reported today by Police Chief John Blackstock.

"I just got wind of it in time, and we were able to stop it," he told Victoria Police Commission.

There were 30 prisoners in the jail at the time the break-out was plotted. The chief withheld further details, but added, "... credit is due to the alertness of the department generally."

Damage by rebellious prisoners has been heavy in the jail in recent months, he told the commission.

He said he will ask for six additional men for the force this year. If the additional men could be added, a jailer would be kept on duty within the cell area.

The jail has been operating at peak capacity since last October.

MONTE ROBERTS

There has been a great deal published lately about the way Adult Westerns are taking over the attention of entertainment seekers throughout this nation.

I LIKE Westerns.

But not ADULT Westerns.

Adult Westerns are strictly for the words.

The kind of Westerns I like are rootin', tootin', shootin' Westerns.

Not the kind of Westerns which labor through a story line, and are burdened with a plot, and have dialogue explaining how the Bad Man was not really a Bad Man at all, and finally came to Realize.

Nope, just give me the rootin', tootin', shootin' Westerns, and ah'll be as happy as all git out.

In rootin', tootin', shootin' Westerns, one of the parts I like is where the hero fires 20 shots from a six-shooter without reloading.

And also without hitting anybody.

(I like the rootin', tootin', and-shootin', but I don't like to see nobody gettin' hit.)

I also like the part where the hero whistles to his horse, and is all ready to climb aboard by dropping from a second storey window into the saddle.

Of course, I would like this part better if the horse mistook the whistle for his regular call to dinner, and headed for the barn while the hero dropped from a second storey window into the arms of his agent.

Who, in turn, announced the hero's option had been dropped.

But I must not quibble or cavil. I LIKE rootin', tootin', shootin' Westerns, whose heroes are strong and silent, and whose heroine minds her place and stays in the classroom teaching the kids their three "r's."

And perhaps best of all, I like the part where the hero kisses his horse and rides off into the sunset, leaving the heroine to pick up the dinner check and me to gaze happily on ...

THE END

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Winds will approach 30 miles per hour tonight with the passage of a storm across the United States coast, weatherman William Mackie said today.

After midnight the wind will veer to the southwest at 25 miles per hour, and will diminish during the day.

The same storm will give showers tonight, but clouds will part Thursday to give some sunshine. Temperatures will range between 39 and 45 degrees.

Victoria Labor Council meets tonight at 8 in the Labor Hall, 615 Pandora.

Dr. W. H. Gaddes, professor of psychology at Victoria College, will present the film "Unconscious Motivation" at an annual meeting of the Canadian Mental Health Association, Victoria branch, in the Business and Professional Women's club, 902 Government, Thursday at 8 p.m.

FO Walter Wickson, 37, son of Mrs. C. Rupert Wickson, 1757 Bank, has been promoted to the rank of flight lieutenant in the RCAF. It was announced today. FL Wickson has completed three years service in France and is now stationed in Montreal as an accounts officer for the Air Material Command. A flyer during the Second World War, he worked for seven years in a bank before re-joining the RCAF.

A 424 Rabbit Club, the first in B.C., has been formed in Victoria.

Executive of the club are Peter Dixon, Deep Cove, president; Ralph Minckler, Langford, vice-president; Gary Jackson, Langford, secretary, and David Essery, Carey Road, treasurer.

John Elliott, 18, 976 Westing, was fined $35 in city police court Tuesday when he pleaded guilty to a charge of being a minor in possession of liquor.

The Gordon Head Garden Club will meet in the district community hall, Monday, at 8 p.m., when Dr. Adam F. Sosnowski, provincial botanist, will speak on "Botanizing Through 5,000 Miles of Northern British Columbia." Colored slides will illustrate the lecture.

Garnet O. Baker, 1728 Fort, who pleaded guilty in city police court Tuesday to false pretences in writing a worthless cheque, was sentenced today to 15 days in jail.

The cheque, for $30, was presented at Cogg's Shoe Man, 1326 Douglas. Baker got $5.20 worth of goods and $4.80 cash.

Rev. G. M. Blackett, district superintendent of the Western Canada District, Christian Missionary Alliance, will preach in Alliance Tabernacle, Yates Street, Sunday at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Monday he will leave with Alliance Tabernacle pastor Rev. C. R. Alton to attend a B.C. Pastors' Prayer Retreat at Chilliwack Tuesday and Wednesday.

B.C. Coast Steamships has announced a schedule revision for St. Queen of the North operating to Northern B.C. ports.

The vessel will leave Vancouver Mondays at 7:30 p.m., returning the following Monday at 9:30 a.m.

Life memberships in Esquimalt Community Club will be presented to six 25-year members at an annual dinner in the club hall, Nelson and Esquimalt Roads, tonight, at 6 o'clock.

The recipients will be Edith Draper, Martha Parkes, Annie Mossop, Annie Naylor and Mr. and Mrs. Robert McVie.

'DON'T GET PERSONAL!'

"Over-70" drivers—in age, not miles per hour—are complaining about "lengthy and personal" questions they are asked when applying for driver's licences.

At the Victoria Automobile Club annual meeting Tuesday, objections were raised because elderly people are required to answer questions about themselves which have no bearing on their ability to drive.

An example cited was: "Do you have any scars on your body?"

Automobile club officials will investigate.

HEADIN' FOR THE LAST SHAVE-UP! That seems the message Ken Kent (right) acted out today as he and 80 other Victoria men swore off shaving until May 8 when they give a mounted parade send-off for the centennial stagecoach. Bob Owens, also giving up shaving, looks on with his horse Tacoma Dink Echoles. The registered quarter-horse has been declared B.C. champion by Canadian Horse Shows Association on the basis of aggregate points piled up during 1957 in five recognized horse shows.

BEARDED RIDERS

Frontier-Type Sendoff Set For Stage Run

Victoria will return to its frontier days for a few hours May 8 to give the B.C. centennial stagecoach a gala sendoff when it starts its 450-mile run to the gold mines of Barkerville.

Flowing beards, clattering hooves, frontier garb and lively dancing will be the order of the day. Plans are in the hands of four Greater Victoria riding clubs.

About 100 mounted riders will parade through the city, all of them dressed like the pioneers of a century ago with full-grown beards.

The 80 male riding club members who will participate in the parade began growing beards today for the event.

13-DAY TRIP

After the celebration, stage driver Jack Turnbull of Queens, will mount his seat and start the 13-day journey tracing the original route to Barkerville, terminal of the old gold rushes.

The coach will carry regular mail, bearing the special B.C. Centennial stamps to be issued May 8. Last letter will be delivered May 21 when the coach arrives at its destination in the interior.

After leaving Victoria, it will travel through Chemainus, Ladysmith and Nanaimo the following day. And it will be ferried to the mainland May 10.

Ken Kent, organizer of the send off celebrations, said representatives of the four clubs will hold their second meeting Monday to work out details of the tentative plans formed earlier this week.

The Gordon Head Garden Club will meet in the district community hall, Monday, at 8 p.m., when Dr. Adam F. Sosnowski, provincial botanist, will speak on "Botanizing Through 5,000 Miles of Northern British Columbia." Colored slides will illustrate the lecture.

Garnet O. Baker, 1728 Fort, who pleaded guilty in city police court Tuesday to false pretences in writing a worthless cheque, was sentenced today to 15 days in jail.

The cheque, for $30, was presented at Cogg's Shoe Man, 1326 Douglas. Baker got $5.20 worth of goods and $4.80 cash.

Rev. G. M. Blackett, district superintendent of the Western Canada District, Christian Missionary Alliance, will preach in Alliance Tabernacle, Yates Street, Sunday at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Monday he will leave with Alliance Tabernacle pastor Rev. C. R. Alton to attend a B.C. Pastors' Prayer Retreat at Chilliwack Tuesday and Wednesday.

B.C. Coast Steamships has announced a schedule revision for St. Queen of the North operating to Northern B.C. ports.

The vessel will leave Vancouver Mondays at 7:30 p.m., returning the following Monday at 9:30 a.m.

Life memberships in Esquimalt Community Club will be presented to six 25-year members at an annual dinner in the club hall, Nelson and Esquimalt Roads, tonight, at 6 o'clock.

The recipients will be Edith Draper, Martha Parkes, Annie Mossop, Annie Naylor and Mr. and Mrs. Robert McVie.

The Social Credit Victoria nomination convention will be held Feb. 17 in conjunction with the regular constituency meeting.

In city police court today: John Donald Smith, 1452 Fairfield, $35 for speeding over 30.

Robert Lyall Erikson, 1507 Westall for failing to carry registration in a conspicuous place.

Edward Joseph Stefanek, 1127 Catherine, $25 for driving unaccompanied by an adult licence-holder while a learner, and $10 for driving through a red light.

Allan John H. Newberry, 811 St. Charles, $100 for driving while his licence was under suspension.

PUBLISHER'S NOTEBOOK

Two Widows

The Queen Mother is stopping over briefly in Vancouver today, en route to the Antipodes. Her visit rekindles many affectionate memories of her visit, with her husband, in the days immediately before the war.

It is interesting to reflect that Her Royal Highness and her wartime colleague and friend, Eleanor Roosevelt, have emerged in widowhood as two of the world's most revered women.

It is, of course, impossible to compare them—except in their devotion to duty during the war years. Our Queen walked through the bomb rubble of London, cheering up the blitz victims. She refused to leave her palace, even after it had been hit by low-flying Nazis. The quiet strength she imparted to our King won the admiration of the world.

Mrs. F. D. R. was always more outgoing. She roamed the Pacific theatres of war, bounced around in bucket seats of service aircraft, rubbed noses with the Maori princesses.

There were many who said Eleanor roamed too far—that she was a peregrinating busybody who should have stayed home and tended to the housekeeping.

But anyone who has ever met, or listened to, Mrs. Roosevelt senses in her a luminous dignity which puts her out of reach of her pettifying opponents. Her concern is with the whole, broad story of man, and with his welfare.

The Queen Mother, too, has this sense of evolution, this appreciation of order and sequence in the long roll of history.

She showed it in a single word, when her daughter flew back from Africa at news of the King's death.

Greeting Elizabeth at the airport, the Queen Mother curtsied to her daughter and called her "Mam."

It was a dramatic and wonderful gesture, a flashing moment in history which illuminated, with the utmost simplicity, the character of its author and underscored the ancient traditions of the throne.

And so our toast for today is obvious: "The Queen Mother—God bless her!"

$5 Million Wage Loss In Yarrows' Lay-Offs

Defence Work Ends; Near-Shutdown Due

Near-shutdown of Yarrows Ltd. shipyard due to lack of defence contracts will mean an annual payroll loss to Victoria area workers of more than $5,000,000, company officials said today.

One hundred men are being laid off today, another 100 Friday, cutting the work force from its peak of 1,150 in August, 1957, to a skeleton staff of 140.

The payroll in 1957 totalled $6,000,000. If the present staff of 140 is maintained, the projected payroll for 1958 will be about $850,000.

STEADY DROP

This week's lay-offs—which follow a steady series of reductions in employees starting with the completion of the destroyer escort HMCS Fraser—are being made as the last naval contract in Yarrows' hands is completed.

HMCS New Waterford, now on acceptance trials, will be commissioned Saturday.

John Wallace, general manager of Yarrows, said today this was the last government contract in sight for many months.

"We are tendering Friday on buoy and supply vessels for the Department of Transport," he said. "It would be three or four months before a sizeable work force would be needed for this job."

NO PROMISES

"We have nothing else in sight except on icebreaker, the hull of which is being built in Vancouver for completion here. We won't start work on it here until January, 1959."

Mr. Wallace said the company had made representation to Ottawa for a "continuing program of ship-building for national defence."

But he said the government could promise no immediate action.

"The result is, we are losing our trained team of shipbuilders," Mr. Wallace said. "They have to go elsewhere to look for work."

OTTAWA RAPPEL

Ernest Orchin, business agent for Machinists, Filtrors and Helpers Local 3, criticized the federal government for inaction in meeting the problem.

"Defence Minister George Peckham hasn't done a thing to help," he said. "I wrote him two months ago and interviewed him recently. Both times he promised to look into the situation."

Contract Let In 30 Days On New Ferry

Plans for a year-round ferry service between Victoria and Port Angeles appeared a step nearer today with a statement by Governor Albert Rosellini of Washington State that a contract for construction of a ferry would be let within 30 days.

According to Associated Press reports from Sequim, Wash., the governor said the ferry would be built by Puget Sound Bridge and Dredging Company of Seattle for Black Ball Transport Inc.

START IN 1959

He said the building schedule for the ferry calls for completion late this year, and the start of service early in 1959.

Plans announced by Black Ball Transport Ltd. last June call for a $2,800,000 ferry to operate between Port Angeles, Port Townsend, and Victoria.

Steady Stream Of Discards For Goodwill

Public response to an appeal for discarded clothing and household articles by Goodwill Enterprises, 560 Yates, has been "most encouraging," an official said today.

Goodwill's newly-reconstructed workshops were opened to the public by Mayor Percy Scurrell two weeks ago, and since then a steady stream of discarded articles has been received.

Re-conditioning of these articles means full-time employment for between 12 and 15 handicapped workers at Goodwill's workshops.

RE-SOLD

The re-conditioned articles are re-sold and the income from sales goes to pay workers' wages and cost of operations.

Donors are asked to phone Mrs. J. Evelyn Lamont, executive director, at 5-6791, and their contributions are then collected by truck.

Victoria Rotary Club has sponsored the organization to the extent of spending $13,000 on re-building the workshops.

"But we still need about $3,000 in cash donations for workshop equipment," Mrs. Lamont said.

CANADIAN CLUB SPEAKER

at a luncheon in the Empress Hotel Monday at 12:15 p.m. will be Deputy Minister of Lands and Forests C. D. Orchard. His subject will be "Commonwealth Forestry Conference, Australia-New Zealand, 1957." Dr. Orchard attended the conference as B.C.'s delegate.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. "How high above sea level are the glass shelter house at Beacon Hill Park Lookout and the Meteorological Station at Gonzales Hill?" F.A.B.

A. The lookout is 125 feet above sea level, and the weather office, 228 feet.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums.

CANADIAN COUTURIERS' SPRING COLLECTION

Outstanding contributions to the fashion world were made this week by the Association of Canadian Couturiers when the annual spring collection was in Toronto and London, Ont. Selected from the collection are these three striking costumes for spring and summer occasions. Left, a short, belted jacket, belted in black velvet over an intricately-pleated dress of white Terylene. It was designed by Bianca Gussman. With jacket removed, the low-cut bodice has a free back panel of fine pleating. Fine white Terylene cotton in a leno weave, geometrically seamed with heavy Guipure lace over an underskirt of yellow Terylene was used by Montreal designer D'Anjou for the billowing evening gown, centre. The triangular motif is repeated in the lace-trimmed bodice, which falls to a low V in the back. Another D'Anjou design, right, shows a viscose print in blue and green, the colors blending harmoniously for a cocktail dress that will take its owner prettily right through spring and summer parties. A third showing of the collection will be held in Montreal next week.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Is Madame Feeling Blue? Ah, She Needs a New Hat!

By PENNY SAVER

Madame, are you feeling depressed and blue? My guess is that a new chapeau would lift your spirits to the sky... quickly! Come and shop with me and maybe we'll find a hat to make you feel like a new woman!

See the hat over on that rack? How do you like its soft, high crown and small one-inch brim? It's a beige shade tied prettily with a grosgrain ribbon. I should say! It is a chic little number and it's priced at $3.95.

Navy blue is a color that matches nearly every shade you wear. Why, it's been said that navy will go with green and black... but try it sometime! The effect is very attractive. I've chosen a navy blue furry hat with a semi-high crown and floppy wide brim. Take a look in some of the latest fashion magazines and you'll see this style is smart! You'll find this hat selling in a group of similar styles that start in price at $3.95.

According to our own fashion editor, Nona Damaske, the beret is still leading the hat fashion list. A beret is something every woman can wear! It's appropriate for morning, afternoon and evening wear. For instance, wear it with a sparkling jewel pin in the evening.

One of the most popular fabrics used in the beret is velvet. Is it any wonder? Why this soft material can look just right at eight in the morning as it can at eight at night! The shop where we are buying a hat, has dozens of darling berets in all fabrics imaginable... and the price is $3.95.

Now you've bought your hat, you're looking for accessories... well, aren't you? After all, hubby won't mind the extravagance when he sees the price tag!

Here is a buy that you can't miss on gloves. There's a certain shop in town selling do-skin gloves at $1.98. The smart styles come in pure white and yellow.

Also selling are metal belts in medallion and coin styles at 95 cents and up. Don't lose out on these wonderful prices... phone me at 2-3131.

A Social - Victoria Orange Hall building fund committee held a social evening for members and friends recently in the Orange Hall. Games were played, prizes given and refreshments served. Plans were made for a rummage sale in the hall next Saturday at 9 a.m.

LOUISE DAVIS

On Etiquette

Announcing second marriage: Father died three years ago and Mother is to be married soon. My sister and I, both in our late twenties, are sponsoring the wedding. Would it be correct for us to issue the invitations and, if so could they read "The Misses Marie and Eleanor Smith request the honor of your presence at the wedding of their mother...?"

Louise Davis answers:

As second marriages should be small and informal, there would be no need for formal invitations. The Louise Davis number of people invited would be so few that it would not warrant the cost of the engraving. Even if it is decided that engraved invitations be issued anyway, it would not be correct for you and your sister to issue them in your name or to mail announcements afterwards. I advise that both of you and your mother phone those whom you wish to invite. To those living out of town, your mother should write brief notes asking them to come. If there is to be a small gathering of relatives and friends after the ceremony you sisters may be hostesses. In which case it would be obvious to all that you are "sponsoring" it. If engraved announcements are mailed afterwards, they should read (with the lines properly divided), "Mrs. Joseph Brown and Mr. George Johnson have the honor to announce their marriage on Saturday, the eighth of March, at Victoria, B.C." It would be permissible in this case that your mother use her first name, if she prefers, instead of your father's first name.

Hot beef broth, similar to old-fashioned beef tea, was a staunch stand-by in grandmother's time. It originated (and still remains popular) with the people of the British Isles. Good beverage idea, any time, any place.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Don't Be Mice, Men; Dress With Dash, Color

Last week I wrote about men. Today I am wondering why men go on pretending that they are naturally conservative in dress? The idea that it is more manly to wear dull clothes is smartly contradicted by decorative military uniforms. And the beligerent males of the toughest species among birds exhibit dazzling attire.

It seems that timid church mice are dressed more like the average modern business man when he goes to his office. However, there is hope! Catch him on the golf course or the beach, at the races, skiing or skating, or sun bathing in his own back yard and you will see brightly colored shirts, shorts, jackets and sweaters.

In the matter of ties even the most conservative men are blooming forth in some brilliance. Here is one speck of attire where a man can show a trace of individuality even when wearing the most mundane suits, shoes and shirts. Some years ago the average man even shunned colorful ties. Remember the "undertaker ties"—thin black knit ties which were popular?

I think men respond to a change of pace in their dress just as women do, but from early boyhood on they fear to be different in such matters from others of their sex. So, they are slow to adopt new styles and colors. Women are much more daring.

When men do wear the bright vests and leisure coats, ties and shirts and sports clothes, they find them refreshing. They, too, react to color and change.

Today I am suggesting to women that they take a hand in keeping their men youthful in outlook. Don't let them continue to be sartorial introverts.

I have a Tubby Hubby diet for my masculine readers who are overweight. If you would like to have it, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

BPW Club Presents Sketch

Capt. Langford, retired Royal Guards and newly appointed HBC farm manager, accompanied by Mrs. Langford and their five daughters, returned to Victoria Monday evening in a colorful centennial sketch presented by the Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club.

Other historical scenes presented were the origin of Garbally Road and four Esquimalt sailors discovering a strange building on Wharf Street.

The sketch was written and directed by Mrs. M. Hall. Narrator was Miss Elizabeth Clements. Others taking part were Mrs. L. Nicholls, Miss Dora Payne, Miss Rose Fanstone, Miss Marjorie Gibson, Miss Jean Rodger, Dr. L. Lythgoe, Mrs. V. Wade, Mrs. L. Wright, Mrs. E. Purdy, Mrs. M. Laughlin, Mrs. C. Luciani, Miss Jean Smith, Miss Helen Egan, Miss Maidie Cottingham, Mrs. M. Webb, Miss Jean Andrews, Mrs. E. Goodman, Mrs. E. Fitze, Miss Sybil Lees, Miss Frances Patten.

Others assisting were Miss Minnie Beveridge, Mrs. B. Woodward and Miss Helen Cruickshank.

Preceding the entertainment which took place in the clubrooms, 902 Government Street, a dinner meeting was held at which Mrs. R. Masters presided.

Announcement of the forthcoming International banquet to take place on Saturday evening, Feb. 22, at the Oak Bay Beach Hotel, was made by Miss Ella Brett, second vice-president. Guest speaker will be Dr. Olga Jardine, and Mr. John Dunbar will be soloist.

Table topics mistress, Miss Grace Mitchell, asked her speakers to give talks on subjects they had learned recently.

Speakers were Miss P. L'Amie, Miss B. Helm, Miss P. O'Donnell, Mrs. B. R. Grant and Mr. Fisher.

Mrs. E. Gordon, the toastmistress of the evening, spoke on the theme "The Old Order Changeth". She introduced the following speakers: Miss A. Harness, who spoke on "Comparing in Retail Selling", and Miss M. Cottingham, speaking on "Travel".

Miss H. Egan presented an educational speech. Prepared speeches were given by Mrs. V. Carter, "In Your Own Back Yard"; Mrs. T. O'Donnell, "My Impressions of Polygamy in A'ica"; Mrs. M. Nyland, "That First Experience"; Mrs. P. McAllister, "Research"; Mrs. P. de Bourcier, "Now and Then"; Mrs. M. Ratcliffe, "Where Time Stood Still"; and Miss E. Baess, "Your Body".

A vote of thanks was given by Miss R. Rodgers. General critic was Mrs. M. Craig and critics were Mrs. B. Grant and Miss G. MacKay. Language critic was Miss B. Helm. Mrs. M. Craig presented the spur to Miss M. Nyland for most improved speech.

Miss Elizabeth Baess received the oscar from Dr. Schieder, for presenting the best speech.

Delicious Apple Dessert Is Tinted Pretty Pink

So delightfully spicy and easy, this dessert is made like the favorite, pineapple upside-down cake. But here, apples are used. The top is covered with rosy red apple slices, thanks to red food coloring! Right under the apples are crunchy toasted pecans, then a spicy brown sugar flavored rice pudding.

The baked dessert is quickly made by cooking apple slices several minutes in butter or margarine and honey and some red food coloring. Chopped pecans are sprinkled over the apples. Then comes rice, spiced with pumpkin pie spice and brown sugar. This is a lovely looking dessert with a tantalizingly spicy flavor, so wonderful with most any meal.

INGREDIENTS

Two and a half cups water; 1 1/2 cups uncooked white rice; 2 teaspoons salt; 1/2 cup butter or margarine; 2 red all-purpose cooking apples; 1/2 cup strained honey; red food coloring (optional); 1/2 cup chopped pecans; 1 teaspoon pumpkin pie spice; 3/4 cup milk; 1 cup firmly packed light brown sugar; 1 egg, beaten.

Method: Put the water, rice and salt in a 2-quart saucepan. Bring to a vigorous boil over a high heat. Turn the heat down low. Cover with a lid and simmer 14 minutes. Remove the saucepan from the heat but leave the lid on 10 minutes.

While the rice cooks, melt the butter or margarine in a 9-inch skillet which can go in the oven. Cut about 8 apple slices 1/4-inch thick. Cut out the core and halve the slices. Add the honey and apples to the butter or margarine. Mix in red food coloring until the apples are almost tender. Spoon the mixture over the apples as they cook. Arrange the apples so the bottom of the skillet is covered with the slices. Sprinkle with the pecans.

GIRL GUIDES

Esquimalt — Annual meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary to Esquimalt Girl Guides and Brownies was held recently at the home of Mrs. T. Eldridge, 1167 Wychbury Avenue. Officers named were Mrs. N. French, president; Mrs. C. Hunter, vice-president; Mrs. Eldridge, secretary; Mrs. S. Butt, treasurer; Mrs. N. Patterson, publicity and telephone; Mrs. H. Booth, and Mrs. A. Boyd, ways and means. Annual reports were given and plans discussed to hold a guides and mothers banquet in March.

Try This Ancient Cake Recipe For Perfect Coffee-Time Treat

Old recipes are always fascinating—especially when they sound utterly delicious and reflect an age of roomy, open-hearth kitchens and immense outdoor appetites. Such is this 100-year-old Scandinavian recipe for mocha raisin cake.

Believe it or not, this rich, firm, chocolate cake was originally a breakfast cake, eaten by Norwegians after a hearty breakfast of porridge, fish, potatoes, bread and plenty of steeped coffee. Now, however, the recipe has been refurbished just for our use. The cake itself has been cut down to the proper size for the smaller family. Modern ingredients replace some of the old hard-to-get and it's been carefully tested and retested in a shiny, new oven. Best of all, mocha raisin cake is now an all-around cake—perfect for the kaffeeklatsch and also as a memorable dessert. If we do say so ourselves, it's just as good as the original.

Mocha raisin cake is so wonderfully sweet that it doesn't need a bit of icing for extra flavor. However, for a lovely final touch, confectioners' sugar sprinkled through a paper doily does the trick. With the illusion of snowflakes on your cake and your handsomest cups on the table, you have the perfect setting for a delightful new eating experience. Just be sure to make plenty of extra coffee to complete your own success story!

MOCHA RAISIN CAKE

Two cups strong coffee brew; 1 cup sugar; 2 tablespoons breakfast cocoa; 1 cup seedless raisins, cut up; 1/2 cup shortening; 1 cup sugar; 1/2 teaspoon vanilla; 2 eggs, unbeaten; 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour; 1/2 teaspoon baking soda; 2 teaspoons baking powder; 1/2 teaspoon salt; 1 teaspoon each cinnamon and nutmeg; 1/2 teaspoon cloves.

Combine coffee, sugar, cocoa and raisins in saucepan. Bring to boil and simmer 10 to 15 minutes. Cool. Cream shortening and add sugar gradually, creaming until light and fluffy. Add vanilla. Add eggs one at a time, beating well after each addition. Mix and sift remaining ingredients. Add, alternating with coffee mixture and stir thoroughly. Bake in greased, floured pan 10x10x2 inches in moderate oven, 350°, about one hour. When cool, place lace paper doily on top. Sift confectioners' sugar on doily; lift off carefully. Cut in squares to serve.

House Speaker Praises MRA Film on Africa

OTTAWA — The Speaker of the House of Commons, Roland Michener, has paid high tribute to the Moral Re-Armament all-African film, "Freedom," which he introduced at its first presentation in Canada here this week.

Calling "Freedom" a "remarkable film," Mr. Michener, who was representing the committee of invitation which included a bi-partisan parliamentary group, the mayor and the dean of the diplomatic corps, referred to its "beautiful color photography of African scenes and life."

He stressed, however, that the importance of the film lay in the fact that it represented the voice of Africa today. "It portrays," he said, "their sincere efforts to follow a moral principle in their personal lives and in the settlement of social and political problems."

"This film," he continued, "should be an inspiration to all of us, including the Canadian politicians of this capital city."

TWO for the SHOW

By PHIL LEE

AA (Oscar Class) BB (Worthwhile)
A (Don't Miss) B (For Rainy Days)
C (To put in time)

(A) "THE STORY OF ESTHER COSTELLO" (Odeon) — Those motion picture addicts who have been around long enough will find it difficult to remember the world cinematic without Joan Crawford—in the silents, in the naughties, such as "Our Dancing Daughters," in top-flight musicals of the mid-1930s, such as "Dancing Lady," and, finally, in 1945, she reached the pinnacle of her career with an Academy Award for her brilliant performance in "Mildred Pierce."

Black and moody in mould, the plot of "Esther" is guaranteed to keep most audiences alert and intense. In one instant it is an explosive expose of the charity racket. In the next it is a prime semi-documentary covering the teaching of blind deaf-mutes until they can take their places as useful members of society.

It all starts out in Ireland where a small girl playing in an abandoned dugout accidentally detonates a hand grenade. Before her frightened young eyes, her mother is killed and she herself, from shock, is at once made deaf, dumb and blind.

SOME YEARS later the child (Heather Sears) is taken under the wing of wealthy divorcee Joan Crawford while Miss Crawford is visiting her Irish hometown. Back in America the girl gradually takes the place of her unfaithful husband, Rosanno Brazzi, in her foster-mother's affection. The two work diligently at Braille, at hand language and speech vibrations. Such is their success that the two become famous and are soon the rage of the lecture stage.

It is here that Brazzi returns to the family couch under guise of a repentant husband. But it soon becomes apparent that he sees in his ex-wife only an easy means to a million-dollar charity racket, the exploitation of Esther. As the picture progresses it becomes equally obvious that Brazzi is unfaithful as ever he was and his philanthropic eye's chief target is the deaf-mute.

The climax of the unholy alliance with the holy is about as brutal an assault scene by Brazzi on Esther as the films have ever allowed. Such is the shock to the girl's nervous system that when she can think coherently it is to realize that she has regained her sight, her hearing and her speech. Whether this is medically sound or not is not for the layman to explain. Suffice to say, however, it is the stuff of which absorbing plots are made.

Although each of the principals is good, especially Miss Sears, it is Miss Crawford who registers best of all, and one may say that this is her best showing since "Mildred Pierce."

TEACHERS HIT SALARY FIXING

Violation of Act Charged

VANCOUVER (CP) — The B.C. Teachers' Federation have seized on the wording of charged Tuesday that the B.C. School Trustees' Association is violating the intent of provincial legislation by seeking "unilaterally and arbitrarily" fixing teachers' salaries.

Charles D. Ovans, BCTF general secretary, said the trustees adopt a salary schedule applicable to all classes of teachers employed in the public schools in a district.

But, Mr. Ovans said, it says nothing about power to "fix salaries dictatorially" and thus deny teachers their long-standing bargaining rights.

LESSONS EVERY MONDAY

68-Year-Old Stars With Blind Swimmers

By DINAH KERR

A 68-year-old man is the seal-like star of Victoria's swim classes for the blind.

Charles McFarlane, a totally blind emigrant from England, couldn't swim a stroke when he enrolled in the YMCA class seven weeks ago.

Now he can swim right across the Crystal Garden, and his wife thinks he's "just wonderful."

Mrs. McFarlane watches from the sidelines every Monday morning between 9:30 and 10:30 while "Y" instructor Jack Todd gently teaches eight adults and two youngsters to swim.

Young Donald Walls, eight, is the only swimmer who dimly sees the water he splashes so happily. He has 20 per cent vision in one eye—just enough to recognize his red water board.

"I like red," he said. Donald has attended the class since it began a year ago. His friend, Freddy Schuman, seven, started in September.

Freddie is learning to swim on a small water board, holding firmly to one end and kicking, as Mr. Todd pulls him through the shallow water.

Donald has progressed to the point where he can swim half-way across the pool unaided. He's now a member of a regular "Y" swim class.

The main purpose of the class, Mr. Todd said, is "to get them used to the water so that they can enjoy themselves and have a little recreation."

ENDS TODAY BLACK PATCH AT 1.00, 2.30, 4.00, 6.30, 9.30 PLUS — At 1.35, 5.40, 8.05 So you can't see him until he's ready to get you! THE BLACK SCORPION Adult Entertainment Only 40' TO 1 (EMERALD THEATRE) STARTS TOMORROW ROBERT WAGNER in "STOPOVER TOKIO" Plus FORREST TUCKER in "THE DEER SLAYER"

HUTCHISON IN WASHINGTON

Ike President Only in Name Not in Fact

(At the beginning of the space age U.S. leadership of the western nations, or lack of it, is the most important political question of the time. And Canada's relations with its great neighbor to the south have been injected more strongly than for years into the domestic scene. To size up what these mean to Canada, Times editor Bruce Hutchison has recently talked to many high-ranking sources in Washington, D.C. Today he begins a series of daily articles on what he has found.)

By BRUCE HUTCHISON, Editor of the Victoria Times

WASHINGTON, D.C. — In a Greek tragedy of classic dimensions, the leadership of President Eisenhower has collapsed at the very moment when it is needed most in his own nation and throughout the free world.

For all effective purposes the presidency of the United States is in recess and is unlikely to be effective in great affairs again until a new president is elected in 1960.

This is the price — the bitter, incalculable price — of Mr. Eisenhower's repeated illnesses. Physically he can no longer function as president, except in the most formal fashion.

Unhappily, in the American constitutional system, there is no substitute for a president, no possible means of delegating his authority to others, no way to fill the vacuum of the White House.

The immediate result of the president's condition is a Washington sunk in gloom bordering closely on despair — among Republicans as well as Democrats.

This reporter has seen Washington in the worst days of the depression, of Pearl Harbor, the Berlin blockade and the Korean war but he has never seen it in its present frame of mind. It is passing through the darkest hour since the Civil War.

Of course, much more than the illness of one man has contributed to the sudden discovery that the United States no longer bargains with Russia from strength but from weakness. A vast complex of events (to be discussed in later dispatches) has created the current crisis of the free world but all of them come to focus in the Eisenhower tragedy.

Misconception

It actually began in 1952 when the newly-elected president was at the height of his physical powers but entered office under a complete misconception of his task.

He had received from the American people a clear mandate to end the perpetual alarms, crises and worldwide adventures of the Truman government and the Acheson foreign policy. With complete honesty he undertook to return the nation to what President Harding called "normalcy."

The fatal flaw in this concept soon appeared — Russia would not tolerate "normalcy," or anything like it, anywhere. Despite the American people's yearning for peace abroad and an easy

Nine Persons Slain

DOUGLAS, Wyo. (AP) — Charles Starkweather, 19, sought as the gunman in a wave of Nebraska killings, was captured today five miles west of Douglas.

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Nebraska Governor Victor Anderson mobilized the National Guard in Lincoln today after a mad killer who slays by three gunned down his third trio of victims — bringing his total to nine.

The governor's action followed by minutes a state safety patrol order for all cars in the area to converge on Lincoln, where the killer is "loose in the city."

The governor said he was calling from 100 to 200 men — "all the experienced combat men we can get" — to active duty in the state capital city.

Police engaged in a short chase with a car owned by one of the three newest victims but lost the car and its occupant.

This spurred fears that there might be a 10th victim — the 14-year-old girl companion of the suspect, who has been identified as 19-year-old Charles Starkweather.

The new victims were identified as C. Lauer Ward, 48, president of Capital Steel Works in Lincoln; Clara Ward, 46, his wife, and Lillian Fencel, 60.

The killer continued to slay by three — three at Lincoln Monday night, followed by three at Bennet, about 20 miles southeast of Lincoln, and then three more at Lincoln today.

Starkweather and his junior high school girl friend, Carl Fugate, have been charged with murder.

An abandoned car found near the Ward home was owned by Robert Jensen, 17, Bennet high school student whose body was found with that of Carol King, 16, his girl friend in an abandoned storm cellar.

The other victims were: August Meyer, 70, bachelor with whom Starkweather used to hunt squirrels; Marion Bartlett, 37, his wife Velda, 37, mother of Carl, and the Bartlett's infant daughter.

BAD WEATHER DELAYS FIRING

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UP) — Thick rain clouds and brisk winds swept over Cape Canaveral today, apparently postponing any attempts to launch a major missile. The army's Jupiter C was believed ready for launching.

'JUST LIKE HOME' SAYS QUEEN MOTHER

Protocol Nudged Into Run At Rain-Hit Royal Welcome

By ELIZABETH FORBES, Times Women's Editor
VANCOUVER — Protocol may have been followed when Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth, The Queen Mother, arrived at International Airport Tuesday evening, but if so it was certainly nudged into a run.

A driving rain that started a half hour before the royal aircraft touched down, threw proceedings into high gear and there was little time wasted on formalities.

As the BOAC Douglas airliner taxied toward the new terminal building, a red carpet that had been hidden under canvas to keep it dry, was rolled out.

Lieutenant Governor Frank Ross and Mrs. Ross and Vancouver Mayor Fred Hume and Mrs. Hume had been waiting in the shelter of the terminal building and they stepped quickly to the edge of the carpet.

The ladies were under big blue umbrellas carried by two attractive air stewardesses who added a nice international touch. One was Miss Shirley Joe, a Vancouver Chinese girl and the other, Miss Claudette Faure of Paris, France.

As the engines stopped, men in clean white overalls pushed the landing ramp into place. The door of the big plane opened and Her Majesty appeared.

In the bright glare of many floodlights, the Queen Mother

WIRE BRIEFS

Fulton Won't Answer

OTTAWA (CP) — Justice Minister Fulton today in the Commons declined to say whether the RCMP has any files on present members of the Commons. He said it would be "contrary to the public interest" to make public such information.

Power Negotiations

OTTAWA (CP) — The Progressive Conservative government has continued Liberal negotiations with the United States on the question of payment for downstream benefits in power development on the Columbia River, Resources Minister Hamilton said today.

U.K. Troops Recalled

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain's continental partners agreed today to withdrawal of a further 8,500 British troops from the continent. This is in addition to their authorization last March for the withdrawal of 13,500 Britons.

3 Soviet Envoys Ousted by Dutch

THE HAGUE (Reuters) — The Netherlands said today it has expelled three members of the Russian Embassy.

The foreign office did not say why, but newspapers report that the diplomatic trio entertained Dutch soldiers at parties in order to ferret out military information.

The three, who already have departed, were Col. L. I. Tchernov, military and air attaché; Lt.-Cmdr. V. S. Zenin, naval attaché; and G. N. Soechatsjow, an interpreter.

The newspaper De Telegraaf says the Dutch government, which "had had the Russians shadowed for months," discovered that they had "regularly invited" lower-ranking officers of the Dutch armed forces to parties and meetings "to collect data about the Dutch forces."

The Russians concentrated their attention on the Dutch naval base of Den Helder, De Telegraaf says, adding that Russian espionage activities "assumed such proportions that at one time the Dutch government considered ejecting the whole of the military staff of the Russian Embassy from the country."

Byrne Asks New Move On Tariffs

OTTAWA (CP) — James Byrne, Liberal Commons member for the mining constituency of Kootenay-East, B.C., today asked the government to renew representations to the U.S. against the boosting of tariffs on non-ferrous metals from Canada.

In the Commons, he requested specifically that the government draw to the attention of the U.S. administration a statement by the executive board of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.) that such action would be contrary to the interests of the union's members.

Mr. Byrne is a former officer of the union.

Finance Minister Fleming replied that the government already has made "strong and urgent" representations — as he had previously announced — but that the U.S. had not yet indicated any final policy for 1958.

Deeply Moved, She Says

From Times News Services

VANCOUVER — Elizabeth, The Queen Mother, planned a motor tour of Vancouver this afternoon, rain or shine.

Officials had been ready to cancel the proposed tour if the rain which greeted the Royal visitor on her arrival Tuesday night persisted. But Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross said later the Queen had been impressed with the turnout of thousands in the rain, especially the children, and expressed a wish to make the tour whether it rained or not.

She will travel in the lieutenant-governor's limousine, flanked by other cars and police motorcycle escort over the route of some 20 miles.

But the weather man said the weather probably would cooperate. Cocking an eye at the overcast hanging over the city, he said that while it probably wouldn't shine, it probably wouldn't rain either.

LARGE TURNOUT

There might be some showers in the late evening, about the time the Queen Mother is due to take off on the continuation of her trip to the Antipodes.

Lieutenant-Governor Ross quoted the Queen Mother as saying: "I was deeply touched by the reception I received at the airport and driving through the streets. I was particularly touched by the large turnout of children."

The Queen Mother will see many more children today. Some 3,000 students, whose schools lie along her proposed route, will be released from classes for a chance to get a glimpse of the royal visitor.

A journey into memory marks the only official function on the Queen Mother's program today as she enjoys a day's rest on her unprecedented trip around the world by air.

The one official touch will come in mid-afternoon when she will drive to city hall to meet members of Vancouver city council and sign the visitors' book.

REST AND RELAXATION

There, she will see where she signed on her last visit to the city, in 1939, and alongside it the signature of her husband, the late King George VI.

This morning was set aside for rest and relaxation at the Vancouver residence of Lieutenant-Governor Ross and Mrs. Ross, where she spent Tuesday night as a guest.

After the city hall visit and tour the royal traveller will return to the Ross' home. An official motor cavalcade, with motorcycle escort, later will take her to the airport, where she will board her specially-outfitted airliner for an 8 p.m. takeoff, and the Honolulu leg of her journey.

U.S. Boosts Mideast Aid; Dulles, Iraq Chief Clash

From UP and Reuters Dispatches

ANKARA, Turkey (UP) — The U.S. today pledged $10,000,000 in additional aid to the Middle East members of the Baghdad Pact for a communications network linking their capitals.

Secretary of State John Dulles pledged the additional economic aid at a meeting of the ministerial council. He also said that further aid requests will get a sympathetic hearing in Washington.

The new aid allocation will be added to $8,670,000 already pledged for a survey of civil telephone and telegraph lines.

The pledge was seen as the U.S. reply to a resurgent Soviet economic offensive in the Middle East and particularly to Moscow assertions that the U.S. is interested only in military spending.

Earlier today, a heated rift between the U.S. and the Moslem members emerged over the pact's relation to the Arab-Israeli conflict.

State Secretary Dulles went into a private conference with the delegates of Iraq and Turkey in an effort to patch up the differences, which first broke out in a heated exchange at Tuesday's closed session. Conference sources said the exchange came at a meeting between Dulles and Gen. Nuri al Said, head of the Iraqi delegation.

Nuri was reported to have met Dulles, in the presence of Turkey's Prime Minister Adnan Menderes, to press his case for forcing Israel back into the frontiers laid down by the 1947 United Nations resolution on Palestine.

But he was understood to have received a sharp rebuff from Dulles, who took the line that the Palestine problem should be settled not in the framework of the Baghdad Pact but under the auspices of the UN.

Father Goes Berserk Killing Wife, Child

VANCOUVER (CP) — A 35-year-old father fatally axed his wife and stabbed a five-year-old daughter at the breakfast table in their home today, critically injured another daughter and then stabbed himself.

Police said that the father, stabbed several times in the neck and chest, was in critical condition in hospital, along with an eight-year-old daughter who had also been attacked. Both may recover.

Officers said the man apparently went berserk at the breakfast table in the family's Darnley Street home in Burnaby, a Vancouver suburb.

Police identified the family as William M. Freeman, 35; his wife, Audrey, 32, and daughters Pauline, five, and Doreen, eight.

Officers said the five-year-old daughter had not been killed instantly in the stabbing attack but had bled to death by the time they arrived. They said they found the kitchen of the home "covered with blood from floor to walls."

The mother died in hospital two hours later.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

God of our fathers, Thou hast called us to walk in Thy sight, to do Thy will, and to be Thy children by adoption through Christ Jesus. Help us to walk faithfully in the paths of righteousness. Forgive us when we fail Thee as Thy children and renew the bonds that bind us to Thee. In the name of Thy Son we pray. Amen.

Nat'rally th' Queen Mother'll want t' see th' people o' Vancouver under nat'l conditions—so she'll see 'em with rain pourin' on 'em.

Can't figger whether thet trouble at th' jail wuz folks tryin' t' break out, or in.

The spirit of the late Ernest Winch—friend of the poor and the weak—seemed to linger over the House Tuesday afternoon when his son-in-law and successor in the Legislature, Cedric Cox, made his maiden speech as CCF member for Burnaby.

Mr. Cox, a studious looking man in a dark blue suit, was clearly pre-occupied with humanity. He called for an end to the means test on pensions for blind persons. He asked for a Canadian Merchant Marine to aid Canada's unemployed, and he called on the B.C. government to set an example to the United States by recognizing Communist China.

Then, in a ringing tribute to his father-in-law, he said: "He accomplished more for the underprivileged than any member of this House, past or present. He was a leader in the field of low-cost housing, and it is significant that the United States Senate, not knowing he was dead, recently asked him to give an address in New York on housing for senior citizens."

"No greater tribute could have been offered to my predecessor—the late member for Burnaby."

The new member seemed particularly anxious that Premier Bennett and his government should dare the "displeasure" of the United States by recognizing Communist China.

He felt that if B.C. took the lead other provinces of Canada would join her in taking "the more enlightened view."

Attorney-General Robert Bonner, in his first speech of the session, also referred to the United States.

"After listening to the honorable member for the Opposition (CCF leader Robert Strachan) I realize that the U.S. Republicans are not the only party which cannot get their rockets off the ground," he said.

Mrs. Buda Brown, with her crinkly golden hair and bluetinged spectacles, has an obvious flair for reporting on provincial institutions.

Entering her second session as the Social Credit member for Vancouver-Point Grey, Mrs. Brown became so enthused over British Columbia's correctional homes that she spoke feelingly of "a beautiful jail with lovely kitchens and a nice color scheme."

Those of us who had not openly broken the law wondered why we should be shut out of such places as Mrs. Brown described. Could it be that you have to rob a bank to achieve the Shangri-la of your hopes and dreams?

Possibly the lady member supplied the answer when she recommended stricter discipline for delinquents and fewer excuses for those who take the "easy way out in avoiding unpalatable restrictions on their social behavior."

Both Mrs. Brown and her opposite number in the House, Mrs. Lois Haggen (CCF-Grand Forks-Greenwood) seem to favor dark blue dress. Not so surprising when you remember that the centennial carpet in the B.C. Legislature is a bright red!

And as might be expected, both ladies have left their red dresses at home.

The Daddy of the House, 83-year-old Tom Uphill, listened to most of Tuesday's speeches with eyes closed in what Charles Dickens would have called "an excess of pleasure."

Hands calmly folded on lap, Tom wore the benign expression of one who has heard it all before but thinks it is worth hearing again if only for the goodwill behind it.

HUTCHISON

time at home there could be no end to the era of tension and danger.

Mr. Eisenhower therefore began his presidency on a false premise, was forced to alter course in midstream and was just beginning to master his true situation when his health was shattered.

Meanwhile Russia was building the intercontinental rocket and launching Sputnik. Overnight the power balance of the world had shifted against the West.

By the last days of 1956, domestic events had compounded the foreign crisis—the American economy had begun a sharp decline and threatened to carry with it the economy of the free world especially the economy of Canada.

Hence no president since Lincoln has faced a dilemma more complicated and urgent than the present dilemma of Mr. Eisenhower. And he is in no state to face it.

Dulles Holds Rains

As one of Washington's most distinguished observers put it to this reporter: "We can't make the American constitution work without its core, the presidency. Today there is no presidency except in form, no effective agency of leadership."

Under these circumstances

leadership is fractured and farmed out no one knows just where or how.

In domestic politics the most powerful American of the day is Senator Lyndon Johnson, Democratic leader of the senate and possibly the next president. As the real and accepted manager of the legislature he is trying to fill a gap which can be filled only by the executive.

In foreign policy Mr. Dulles is now supreme and will remain so to the end of Mr. Eisenhower's term. He makes that policy alone, carries it under his hat and forbids any of his advisers to discuss it with the President. No former secretary of state has ever possessed comparable power.

By a unique combination of religious idealism and a hunger for personal power, Mr. Dulles is determined to save the world single-handed by his own methods. So far as the President is concerned Mr. Dulles has a blank cheque.

But it is quite unfair, misleading and dangerous to personalize the crisis in this single whipping boy. Events much larger than he, or Mr. Eisenhower, or any American statesman, are now in flow and they cut surgically across the calculations of all the free nations, including Canada. Another dispatch will try to explain them.

CANADA SPENDS $3.3 MILLION
FOR MAINTAINING REFUGEES

OTTAWA (CP)—A total of $3,350,105 had been spent up to last Nov. 30 on maintenance for Hungarian refugees in Canada, a government return tabled Tuesday in the Commons showed.

The return, in reply to queries from G. H. Castleden (CCF-Yorkton), said $1,352,971 was spent for transportation of the refugees in Canada and $494,371 for their medical care.

It said return passages had been paid for 170 Hungarians up to last Oct. 1. The return did not give the cost of these.

Rea Purchases
Another 21%
CHEK Shares

Once chief competitor for Victoria's television channel 6, William Rea, Santa Barbara, Calif., has purchased another 21 per cent of the shares of CHEK-TV, it was announced today by David M. Armstrong, CHEK-TV president.

Last year Mr. Rea, former owner-manager of radio station CKNW, New Westminster, bought out Charles White, one of the three original share-owners of CHEK-TV. Now he has purchased the shares owned by Dr. M. M. Mathisen, New Westminster.

The transfer of shares by Dr. Mathisen is subject to the approval of the Department of Transport and the Board of Governors of the CBC.

If approved, Mr. Rea will own 42 per cent of the shares and Mr. Armstrong 58 per cent.

Tories Succeed
Three Liberal
Lt.-Governors

OTTAWA (CP)—Three Progressive Conservatives have been named to succeed Liberal lieutenant-governors in Saskatchewan, Prince Edward Island and Quebec.

Frank L. Bastedo, 71-year-old Regina lawyer, was appointed Tuesday by Prime Minister Diefenbaker to succeed Lt.-Gov. William John Patterson in Saskatchewan Monday.

F. Walter Hyndman, 53, a Charlottetown insurance executive, will become P.E.I.'s lieutenant-governor March 31, on the retirement of Lt.-Gov. William Prowse, 69.

Appointment of former provincial finance minister Onesime as lieutenant-governor of Quebec was announced today by Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

Appointment of Mr. Gagnon, who resigned his cabinet post Friday, is effective Feb. 14. He succeeds Gaspard Fauteux, lieutenant-governor of Quebec since Oct. 1, 1950.

Better Credit System
Promised to Farmers

MONTREAL (CP)—Agriculture Minister Douglas Harkness indicated today that the Progressive Conservative government soon may take definite steps to provide Canadian farmers with an improved credit system.

"I believe that we require an improved credit system for Canadian farmers which will make money available to them to modernize and improve their farms so that they can carry one more efficiently in many cases than has been possible in the past," he said.

Speaking to the annual meeting of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, he said better farm credit is one of a number of problems he has been studying.

Other possible measures which Mr. Harkness mentioned were a system of crop insurance and a national program of soil and water conservation which would include construction of the South Saskatchewan River power-irrigation project.

PROTOCOL

blue nylons and dainty high spike-heeled shoes that added a touch of extreme fashion to the ensemble.

As the Queen Mother set foot on the red carpet the lieutenant-governor came forward and shook hands. Mrs. Ross followed with a graceful curtsy.

As Mayor and Mrs. Hume were being received, Mrs. Ross stepped back and into a limousine that took her, under police escort, by the most direct route to the Ross home in Point Grey, so she could be there when Her Majesty arrived.

"My, what rain," the Queen Mother said as she looked up from the shelter of her umbrella.

HAT BLOWN OFF

A gust of wind blew Mrs. Hume's hat off as she made her curtsy.

CHATS WITH MAYOR

The Queen Mother talked longest with Mayor Hume, whom she met on a cross-Canada tour with the late King George VI in 1939. At that time Mr. Hume was mayor of nearby New Westminster.

"She is a beautiful and lovely person," the mayor said later. "She told me she was feeling a little tired from her long air voyage but she said: 'I am so very glad to be here.'"

The Queen Mother entered a brightly lit car, Lieutenant-Governor Ross, the Humes and the Queen's entourage of 19 persons followed. A cavalcade was formed and moved slowly away as 2,000 or more people who had come out to see royalty shouted their approval.

JUST RAIN

It was all over in 10 minutes. The lights flashed off in the plane. Only thing left was the driving rain.

A last flurry of excitement came as senior pilot of the royal aircraft, Capt. Bernard Frost, came in to the room set up for the press at the airport.

This blue-eyed, pink-cheeked Englishman, with more than 15,000 flying hours to his credit, was proud of the fact that almost three hours had been clipped from the estimated flight across Canada. (First scheduled arrival had been estimated as 11:30 p.m.)

He had flown nearly all the way at 20,000 feet and in thick cloud.

"We did see Winnipeg," he explained, "and we had a few glimpses of the Rockies. A few minutes ago we sighted the lights of Penticton (Penticton, he called it)."

"The moon put on a bit of a show for us," he added. "That's all."

The leaders told the Nicosia security committee that they would undertake responsibility for any outbreaks, and guaranteed that funerals of Turks killed in the demonstrations would be peaceful, provided no British troops lined the routes.

British troops Tuesday fired on Turkish crowds demonstrating in favor of partition of Cyprus. Five Turks were killed, bringing the death toll for the two days to seven.

WORST RIOTS
A total of 100 persons, including 40 members of the British security forces, were injured in the worst anti-British riots this Mediterranean island has seen.

Calm returned Tuesday night after community leaders went from street to street to point out that further riots would harm the Turkish cause.

The Turkish Cypriots, a minority of 90,000, want the troubled British colony to be partitioned into Turkish and Greek zones if it cannot remain under British rule. The 400,000 Greek Cypriots favor political union with Greece.

Aide Revived

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (AP)—A member of Dr. Vivian Fuchs' British trans-Antarctic expedition, stricken by carbon monoxide fumes, was reported recovering today after oxygen bottles were dropped to the polar party.

The victim, 33-year-old Geoffrey Pratt, a seismic expert, apparently was affected by fumes from one of the vehicles carrying the party from the south pole to Scott Base. Fuchs is using one Weasel and four Sno-Cat tracked snow vehicles.

The expedition is some 1,000 miles from its goal on McMurdo Sound.

ISLAND MAN
ROYAL PILOT

One of the youngest men ever to receive British master pilot's certificate in 1947, Captain John Woodman, 32, of Vancouver Island, is captain of the royal plane carrying the Queen Mother on her tour.

Born at Cameron Lake, he was educated at Shawnigan Lake School.

Among the others was "The Prophet" by Kohl Gilran and "Saturday Book" by John Hadfield.

Home Rule
For Algeria
Hits Snag

PARIS (AP)—A new French election law for rebellious Algeria won final legislative approval Tuesday from the National Assembly, 292 to 249, but a bill to provide limited home rule was held up by a dispute with the Upper House.

Although designed to relax French rule in Algeria, they preserve control from Paris of the North African area's defence, foreign affairs and finances.

Both plans have already been rejected by Algerian rebels, who have been fighting for independence for more than three years. The French have said they cannot hold elections until peace is restored to Algeria.

The election law equalizes the votes of French and Arab residents of Algeria. In the past, although the Arabs outnumber the French 10 to one, the voting system was rigged to give the French control.

To keep Algeria's French settlers from being swamped by the Arabs, the home rule bill would divide the territory into six or seven regional administrations, with the boundaries drawn along racial lines. It also promises a federal regime for the future.

Teachers Meet
Today on Wages

A full membership meeting of Greater Victoria Teachers' Association was set for 4 p.m. today in effort to break a deadlock in salary talks.

The teachers were expected to vote on whether to ask arbitration proceedings in salary negotiations with Greater Victoria School Board.

6 PER CENT REJECTED

Only 14 out of 434 who attended the meeting voted to accept the proposal. Earlier the GVTA scaled down its 18 per cent requests to 13 per cent, but the board held firm.

If arbitration is decided upon, both sides in the dispute must act quickly. Under the governing provincial act, the school board 1958 budget must be completed and presented to area councils for approval by Feb. 14.

CITY WOMAN NAMED HEIR TO MILLION

A Saanich housewife and mother of five today was named heir to an estate valued at $1,011,984.

Mrs. Norah D'Arcy McGee, 2875 Seaview, Saanich, was left a life interest in the estate of her father, John Gordon Fleck, prominent lumberman, who died at Ottawa last October.

An Ottawa report says upon her death, the residue will be divided among her children.

Mrs. McGee's husband, T. D'Arcy McGee, is a salesman for Heisterman and Co., Blanshard Street realtors.

Bandits Take $100,000 in Gems

NEW YORK (UP)—Two bandits held up a Madison Avenue jewelry shop today and escaped with $100,000 worth of gems, mostly diamonds. The bandits held three clerks in the Kohn Bros. jewelry shop at gunpoint while they scooped the gems from the newly-opened cases.

Missing Pilot Found in North

EDMONTON (CP)—Pilot Hendrick Frances, missing since Monday on a flight from the Arctic coast to Yellowknife, N.W.T., was found today.

A report from the RCAF and Pacific Western Airlines in Edmonton said the pilot was sighted walking around his downed aircraft.

Blast Routs Family of 3

TORONTO (CP)—A family of three were driven from their home today by an explosion in the basement. The house is in suburban Scarborough, almost opposite the site of an explosion last Thursday that destroyed another house.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bundy and their infant baby were asleep today when their house was shaken.

All-Star Team to Moscow

VANCOUVER (CP)—Representatives of the Pacific Coast Football Association have endorsed plans for sending an all-star Canadian team to play in Moscow in August.

The Russians have invited the Canadian Football Association to send a team to Moscow and final decision will be made March 22 at the annual CSFA meeting in Montreal.

First World War Leader Dies

LONDON (Reuters)—Gen. Sir Ivor Maxse, 95, one of the few surviving military leaders of the First World War, died today at a nursing home.

He checked a German break-through in France in 1918, in an action which his commander-in-chief said "saved the Allied cause from disaster."

3 Soviet Envoys Ousted by Dutch

THE HAGUE (Reuters)—The Netherlands said today it has expelled three members of the Russian Embassy.

The foreign office did not say why, but newspapers report that the diplomatic trio entertained Dutch soldiers at parties in order to ferret out military information.

The three, who already have departed, were Col. L. I. Tchernov, military and air attaché; Lt. Cmdr. V. S. Zentz, naval attaché; and G. N. Soechatsky, an interpreter.

The newspaper De Telegraaf says the Dutch government, which "had had the Russians shadowed for months," discovered that they had "regularly invited" lower-ranking officers of the Dutch armed forces to parties and meetings "to collect data about the Dutch forces."

The Russians concentrated their attention on the Dutch naval base of Den Helder, De Telegraaf says, adding that Russian espionage activities "assumed such proportions that at one time the Dutch government considered ejecting the whole of the military staff of the Russian Embassy from the country."

HUTCHISON IN WASHINGTON

Ike President Only in Name Not in Fact

(At the beginning of the space age U.S. leadership of the western nations, or lack of it, is the most important political question of the time. And Canada's relations with its great neighbor to the south have been injected more strongly than for years into the domestic scene. To size up what these mean to Canada, Times editor Bruce Hutchison has recently talked to many high-ranking sources in Washington, D.C. Today he begins a series of daily articles on what he has found.)

By BRUCE HUTCHISON, Editor of the Victoria Times

WASHINGTON, D.C. — In a Greek tragedy of classic dimensions, the leadership of President Eisenhower has collapsed at the very moment when it is needed most in his own nation and throughout the free world.

For all effective purposes the presidency of the United States is in recess and is unlikely to be effective in great affairs again until a new president is elected in 1960.

This is the price — the bitter, incalculable price — of Mr. Eisenhower's repeated illnesses. Physically he can no longer function as president, except in the most formal fashion.

Unhappily, in the American constitutional system, there is no substitute for a president, no possible means of delegating his authority to others, no way to fill the vacuum of the White House.

The immediate result of the president's condition is a Washington sunk in gloom bordering closely on despair — among Republicans as well as Democrats.

This reporter has seen Washington in the worst days of the depression, of Pearl Harbor, the Berlin blockade and the Korean war but he never seen it in its present frame of mind. It is passing through the darkest hour since the Civil War.

Of course, much more than the illness of one man has contributed to the sudden discovery that the United States no longer bargains with Russia from strength but from weakness. A vast complex of events (to be discussed in later dispatches) has created the current crisis of the free world but all of them come to focus in the Eisenhower tragedy.

Mr. Bryan said that he and other candidates were assured by Mr. Bonner that the allegations involving former lands and forests minister Sommers were "far-fetched."

He continued: "People are puzzled by the fast-moving chain of events of recent months which, he said, 'we must assume are based on the same statement that the attorney-general dismissed last year and the year before.'"

"I know I am voicing the serious doubts of thousands of British Columbians when I question the present attorney-general's appreciation of the basic concepts inherent in the high office he holds."

Copies of Mr. Bryan's speech were distributed to members of the Press Gallery early in the afternoon sitting. Mr. Bryan was scheduled as the third speaker of the day in Throne Speech debate.

CRITICAL OF ACTION ON SOMMERS

A demand for the resignation of Attorney-General Robert Bonner because of his handling of the Sommers case was to be made in the B.C. Legislature this afternoon by John Melvin Bryan, Social Credit member for North Vancouver.

In a speech prepared for delivery late in the afternoon sitting, Mr. Bryan said:

"It is my honest conviction that the Attorney-General of this province has shown a serious lack of ability to fulfill all the requirements of his high post."

"I call upon him to resign his duties in favor of someone who can."

Mr. Bryan said further that the manner in which Mr. Bonner had failed to deal with an issue involving a cabinet minister and the government itself had placed a serious strain on the respect and support that the government has enjoyed and deserved.

"I was one of the candidates who fought for this government in the provincial campaign of 1956. I believed the assurances from the attorney-general that there was more sound and fury than substance in the allegations concerning the government's administration of our greatest basic industry."

Mr. Bryan said that he and other candidates were assured by Mr. Bonner that the allegations involving former lands and forests minister Sommers were "far-fetched."

He continued: "People are puzzled by the fast-moving chain of events of recent months which, he said, 'we must assume are based on the same statement that the attorney-general dismissed last year and the year before.'"

Protocol Nudged Into Run At Rain-Hit Royal Welcome

By ELIZABETH FORBES, Times Women's Editor
VANCOUVER—Protocol may have been followed when Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth, The Queen Mother, arrived at International Airport Tuesday evening, but if so it was certainly nudged into a run.

A driving rain that started a half hour before the royal aircraft touched down, threw proceedings into high gear and there was little time wasted on formalities.

As the BOAC Douglas airliner taxied toward the new terminal building, a red carpet that had been hidden under canvas to keep it dry, was rolled out.

Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross and Mrs. Ross and Vancouver's Mayor Fred Hume and Mrs. Hume had been waiting in the shelter of the terminal building and they stepped quickly to the edge of the carpet.

The ladies were under big blue umbrellas carried by two attractive air-stewardesses who added a nice international touch. One was Miss Shirley Joe, a Vancouver Chinese girl and the other, Miss Claudette Faure of Paris, France.

As the engines stopped, men in clean white overalls pushed the landing ramp into place. The door of the big plane opened and Her Majesty appeared.

In the bright glare of many floodlights, the Queen Mother was calm and poised. The smile so many remembered from the 1939 visit, flashed briefly; a graceful wave of the hand followed.

Then, Her Majesty came quickly down the landing steps. So quickly, in fact, that an equestrian holding a huge black umbrella over her head had a hard time keeping up to her.

At the foot of the steps she took the umbrella firmly in her own hand and held it down against the rain.

The diamond maple leaf, given to her during the 1939 visit, flashed on the lapel of her full-length smoke-toned mink coat.

Her dress was a satin sheath in rich Dior blue and her side draped hat in the same tone was trimmed with stiffened ostrich feathers in a darker blue. Diamonds were at her ears and she wore a three-strand necklace of pearls.

Women among the spectators noted with interest the dark

Nine Shot Down

DOUGLAS, Wyo. (AP)—Charles Starkweather, 19, sought as the gunman in a wave of Nebraska killings, was captured today five miles west of Douglas.

Starkweather was wounded in a gun battle with a deputy sheriff.

Officers said also that the body of a man was found near this eastern Wyoming town. He was not immediately identified and the cause of death was not learned at once.

Deputy Sheriff Bill Romer identified the youth captured as Starkweather, accused as the slayer of nine persons in the last two days in Nebraska.

Romer notified the sheriff's office in Casper that a girl was with Starkweather. He did not identify her. She apparently was not hurt.

Queen Mother Deeply Moved By Greeting

From Times News Services

VANCOUVER — Elizabeth, The Queen Mother, planned a motor tour of Vancouver this afternoon, rain or shine.

Officials had been ready to cancel the proposed tour if the rain which greeted the Royal visitor on her arrival Tuesday night persisted. But Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross said later the Queen had been impressed with the turnout of thousands in the rain, especially the children, and expressed a wish to make the tour whether it rained or not.

She will travel in the lieutenant-governor's limousine, flanked by other cars and police motorcycle escort over the route of some 20 miles.

But the weather man said the weather probably would cooperate. Cocking an eye at the overcast hanging over the city, he said that while it probably wouldn't shine, it probably wouldn't rain either.

LARGE TURNOUT
There might be some showers in the late evening, about the time the Queen Mother is due to take off on the continuation of her trip to the Antipodes.

Lieutenant-Governor Ross quoted the Queen Mother as saying: "I was deeply touched by the reception I received at the airport and driving through the streets. I was particularly touched by the large turnout of children."

The Queen Mother will see many more children today. Some 3,000 students, whose schools lie along her proposed route, will be released from classes for a chance to get a glimpse of the royal visitor.

NORMAN CRIBBENS IN THE LEGISLATURE

The spirit of the late Ernest Winch—friend of the poor and the weak—seemed to linger over the House Tuesday afternoon when his son-in-law and successor in the Legislature, Cedric Cox, made his maiden speech as CCF member for Burnaby.

Mr. Cox, a studious looking man in a dark blue suit, was clearly pre-occupied with humanity. He called for an end to the means test on pensions for blind persons. He asked for a Canadian Merchant Marine to aid Canada's unemployed, and he called on the B.C. government to set an example to the United States by recognizing Communist China.

Then, in a ringing tribute to his father-in-law, he said: "He accomplished more for the underprivileged than any member of this House, past or present. He was a leader in the field of low-cost housing, and it is significant that the United States Senate, not knowing he was dead, recently asked him to give an address in New York on housing for senior citizens. 'No greater tribute could have been offered to my predecessor—the late member for Burnaby.'"

The new member seemed particularly anxious that Premier Bennett and his government should drop the "displeasure" of the United States by recognizing Communist China. He felt that if B.C. took the lead other provinces of Canada would join her in taking "the more enlightened view."

Attorney General Robert Bonner, in his first speech of the session, also referred to the United States.

"After listening to the honorable member for the Opposition (CCF leader Robert Strachan) I realize that the U.S. Republicans are not the only party which cannot get their rockets off the ground," he said.

Mr. Buda Brown, with her crinkly golden hair and bluetinged spectacles, has an obvious flair for reporting on provincial institutions. Entering her second session as the Social Credit member for Vancouver-Point Grey, Mrs. Brown became so enthused over British Columbia's correctional homes that she spoke feelingly of "a beautiful jail with lovely kitchens and a nice color scheme."

Those of us who had not openly broken the law wondered why we should be shut out of such places as Mrs. Brown described. Could it be that you have to rob a bank to achieve the Shangri-la of your hopes and dreams? Possibly the lady member supplied the answer when she recommended stricter discipline for delinquents and fewer excuses for those who take the easy way out in avoiding unpleasant restrictions on their social behavior.

Both Mrs. Brown and her opposite number in the House, Mrs. Lois Haggan (CCF-Grand Forks-Greenwood) seem to favor dark blue dress. Not so surprising when you remember that the centennial carpet in the B.C. Legislature is a bright red!

And as might be expected, both ladies have left their red dresses at home.

The Daddy of the House, 83-year-old Tom Uphill, listened to most of Tuesday's speeches with eyes closed in what Charles Dickens would have called "an excess of pleasure." Hands calmly folded on lap, Tom wore the benign expression of one who has heard it all before but thinks it is worth hearing again if only for the goodwill behind it.

HUTCHISON

leadership is fractured and farmed out no one knows just where or how.

In domestic politics the most powerful American of the day is Senator Lyndon Johnson, Democratic leader of the senate and possibly the next president. As the real and accepted manager of the legislature he is trying to fill a gap which can be filled only by the executive.

In foreign policy Mr. Dulles is now supreme and will remain so to the end of Mr. Eisenhower's term. He makes that policy alone, carries it under his hat and forbids any of his advisers to discuss it with the President. No former secretary of state, has ever possessed comparable power.

By a unique combination of religious idealism and a hunger for personal power, Mr. Dulles is determined to save the world single-handed by his own methods. So far as the President is concerned Mr. Dulles has a blank cheque.

But it is quite unfair, misleading and dangerous to personalize the crisis in this single whipping boy. Events much larger than he, or Mr. Eisenhower, or any American statesman, are now in flow and they cut surgically across the calculations of all the free nations, including Canada. Another dispatch will try to explain them.

CANADA SPENDS $3.3 MILLION FOR MAINTAINING REFUGEES

OTTAWA (CP)—A total of $3,350,105 had been spent up to last Nov. 30 on maintenance for Hungarian refugees in Canada, a government return tabled Tuesday in the Commons showed.

The return, in reply to queries from G. H. Castleden (CCF-Yorkton), said $1,352,971 was spent for transportation of the refugees in Canada and $494,371 for their medical care.

It said return passages had been paid for 170 Hungarians up to last Oct. 1. The return did not give the cost of these.

Rea Purchases Another 21% CHEK Shares

Once chief competitor for Victoria's television channel 6, William Rea, Santa Barbara, Calif., has purchased another 21 per cent of the shares of CHEK-TV. It was announced today by David M. Armstrong, CHEK-TV president.

Last year Mr. Rea, former owner-manager of radio station CKNW, New Westminster, bought out Charles White, one of the three original share-owners of CHEK-TV. Now he has purchased the shares owned by Dr. M. M. Mathisen, New Westminster.

The transfer of shares by Dr. Mathisen is subject to the approval of the Department of Transport and the Board of Governors of the CBC.

If approved, Mr. Rea will own 42 per cent of the shares and Mr. Armstrong 58 per cent.

Tories Succeed Three Liberal Lt.-Governors

OTTAWA (CP)—Three Progressive Conservatives have been named to succeed Liberal lieutenant-governors in Saskatchewan, Prince Edward Island and Quebec.

Frank L. Bastedo, 71-year-old Regina lawyer, was appointed Tuesday by Prime Minister Diefenbaker to succeed Lt.-Gov. William John Patterson in Saskatchewan Monday.

F. Walter Hyndman, 53, a Charlottetown insurance executive, will become P.E.I.'s lieutenant-governor March 31, on the retirement of Lt.-Gov. William Prowes, 69.

Appointment of former provincial finance minister Onesime as lieutenant-governor of Quebec was announced today by Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

Appointment of Mr. Gagnon, who resigned his cabinet post Friday, is effective Feb. 14. He succeeds Gaspard Fautoux, lieutenant-governor of Quebec since Oct. 1, 1950.

4 Crushed to Death

ROUNDUP, Mont. (AP)—A mine cave-in crushed four men to death beneath an estimated 15 tons of rock late Tuesday. Six others escaped injury.

Better Credit System Promised to Farmers

MONTREAL (CP)—Agriculture Minister Douglas Harkness indicated today that the Progressive Conservative government soon may take definite steps to provide Canadian farmers with an improved credit system.

"I believe that we require an improved credit system for Canadian farmers which will make money available to them to modernize and improve their farms so that they can carry one more efficiently in many cases than has been possible in the past," he said. Speaking to the annual meeting of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, he said better farm credit is one of a number of problems he has been studying.

Other possible measures which Mr. Harkness mentioned were a system of crop insurance and a national program of soil and water conservation which would include construction of the South Saskatchewan River power-irrigation project.

Turks Pledge Cyprus Peace

NICOSIA, Cyprus (Reuters)—The curfew on the Turkish quarters of Nicosia and Famagusta, imposed after two days of demonstrations, was lifted at dawn today following peace pledges by Turkish leaders.

blue nylons and dainty high spike-heeled shoes that added a touch of extreme fashion to the ensemble.

As the Queen Mother set foot on the red carpet the lieutenant-governor came forward and shook hands. Mrs. Ross followed with a graceful curtsy.

As Mayor and Mrs. Hume were being received, Mrs. Ross stepped back and into a limousine that took her, under police escort, by the most direct route to the Ross home in Point Grey, so she could be there when Her Majesty arrived.

"My, what rain," the Queen Mother said as she looked up from the shelter of her umbrella.

HAT BLOWN OFF
A gust of wind blew Mrs. Hume's hat off as she made her curtsy.

A member of the Queen Mother's entourage indicated Her Majesty probably wasn't disappointed in the weather.

CHATS WITH MAYOR

The Queen Mother talked longest with Mayor Hume, whom she met on a cross-Canada tour with the late King George VI in 1939. At that time Mr. Hume was mayor of nearby New Westminster.

"She is a beautiful and lovely person," the mayor said later. "She told me she was feeling a little tired from her long air voyage but she said: 'I am so very glad to be here.'"

The Queen Mother entered a brightly lit car. Lieutenant-Governor Ross, the Humes and the Queen's entourage of 19 persons followed. A cavalcade was formed and moved slowly away as 2,000 or more people who had come out to see royalty shouted their approval.

JUST RAIN

It was all over in 10 minutes. The lights flashed off in the plane. Only thing left was the driving rain.

A last flurry of excitement came as senior pilot of the royal aircraft, Capt. Bernard Frost, came in to the room set up for the press at the airport.

This blue-eyed, pink-cheeked Englishman, with more than 15,000 flying hours to his credit, was proud of the fact that almost three hours had been clipped from the estimated flight across Canada. (First scheduled arrival had been estimated as 11:30 p.m.)

He had flown nearly all the way at 20,000 feet and in thick cloud.

"We did see Winnipeg," he explained, "and we had a few glimpses of the Rockies. A few minutes ago we sighted the lights of Penitence (Penitence, he called it)."

"The moon put on a bit of a show for us," he added. "That's all."

HUTCHISON BOOK IN ROYAL SUITE

By Staff Reporter
VANCOUVER—On the night table in the Queen Mother's suite in the Point Grey home of Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Ross was a selection of six books in case she wanted to read before going to sleep.

First in line and closest to her hand was Bruce Hutchison's "Canada—Tomorrow's Giant."

Among the others was "The Prophet" by Kohl Gilran and "Saturday Book" by John Hadfield.

Home Rule For Algeria Hits Snag

PARIS (AP)—A new French election law for rebellious Algeria won final legislative approval Tuesday from the National Assembly, 292 to 249, but a bill to provide limited home rule was held up by a dispute with the Upper House.

Although designed to relax French rule in Algeria, they preserve control from Paris of the North African area's defence, foreign affairs and finances.

Both plans have already been rejected by Algerian rebels, who have been fighting for independence for more than three years. The French have said they cannot hold elections until peace is restored to Algeria.

The election law equalizes the votes of French and Arab residents of Algeria. In the past, although the Arabs outnumber the French 10 to one, the voting system was rigged to give the French control.

To keep Algeria's French settlers from being swamped by the Arabs, the home rule bill would divide the territory into six or seven regional administrations, with the boundaries drawn along racial lines. It also promises a federal regime for the future.

Teachers Meet Today on Wages

A full membership meeting of Greater Victoria Teachers Association was set for 4 p.m. today in effort to break a deadlock in salary talks.

The teachers were expected to vote on whether to ask arbitration proceedings in salary negotiations with Greater Victoria School Board.

6 PER CENT REJECTED

Only 14 out of 434 who attended the meeting voted to accept the proposal. Earlier the GVTA scaled down its 18 per cent requests to 13 per cent, but the board held firm.

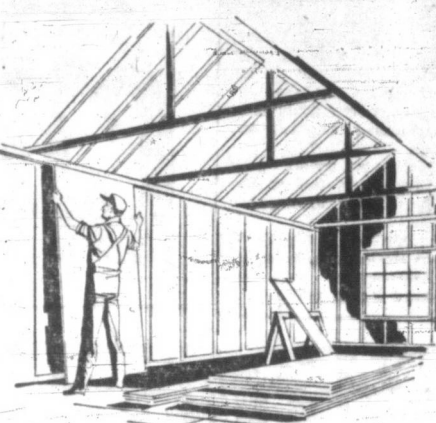

If arbitration is decided upon, both sides in the dispute must act quickly. Under the governing provincial act, the school board 1958 budget must be completed and presented to area councils for approval by Feb. 14.
